

Kiwanis Promises Fashion Show, Ball And Perhaps Revue

Annual Kiwanis Event to be Staged October 19 in New State Armory—Two Orchestras Will Play for Affair.

Starting with a zest that surpasses any previous activity on the part of the Kiwanis to stage an event to secure money for its milk fund, dental clinic and other welfare plans, all members of the club each subscribed to a patron ticket at the meeting Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel, assuring that the gigantic fashion show and ball in the New State Armory on October 19 will be the biggest event sponsored by that organization since its inception here, and will provide funds to carry on the work undertaken by the club.

In place of the regular program for a noon meeting, the entire time was given to pep talks and inspiring addresses on behalf of the one activity each year, chosen by the club, to seek aid in helping the less fortunate in Kingston.

Two quartets started the meeting, each competing in a rendition of "In the Valley of the Moon", the first group being composed of Clarence Roland, R. Frederick Chidsey, Dr. Julius Gifford and the Rev. O. E. Brandorff. They were followed by LeVan Haver, Dr. T. Hampson Jones, Clarence Schoonmaker and Robert Service. Both groups combined for the final chorus. The direction was by Paul Zucca, assistant at the piano by Danny Bittner.

Harry Halverson, general chairman of the fashion show and ball, called upon Mr. Service, William Byrne, the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve and Mr. Zucca for information concerning their groups on the event. Each worked up considerable enthusiasm and then Mr. Zucca called for unanimous support in beginning the campaign by the subscription of every Kiwanian to a patron ticket. Not a dissenting voice was heard as remarks of support carried the measure.

Although plans for the ball were in the formative stage, it was learned that preceding the ball a number of Kingston merchants will display all manner of clothing in the latest fashions, the two orchestras will be on hand for the affair, and the hint was advanced that a special revue would augment the program. In a setting made as delightful as possible. Concerning the revue, it was explained that it would not be a vaudeville show in the sense that a number of acts would be hired, but would be one of the larger New York plays over a considerable period of time. Whether this revue may be obtained has not been decided, but negotiations are under way, and Kiwanis promises if the entertainment is booked, that it will be the best thing of its kind ever brought to Kingston.

Tickets were distributed among the Kiwanians and there is the expectation that large numbers will be sold before the meeting next week. The meeting closed with the announcement that President Howard R. St. John, Lucius Doty and Harry Halverson would attend the state convention of Kiwanis at Glens Falls the early part of next week.

SUSPECT GAVE IMPRESSION OF BEING A HALF WIT

Leipzig, Germany, Sept. 22 (P).—Whether young Marius Van Der Lubbe was pretending yesterday when he gave the impression of being a half wit occupied the supreme court today during the trial of Van Der Lubbe and four others on charges of burning the Reichstag building and attempting to overthrow the constitution.

Van Der Lubbe's replies to questions of the six red-robed judges were sometimes incoherent and he often laughed because, he said, the trial was amusing.

According to Prof. Karl Bonhoeffer, a noted alienist, the 24-year-old Dutch brick mason was practically normal last March when he was examined.

"It is not impossible, however, that Van Der Lubbe's recent refusal to take nourishment brought about a state of emotional weakening which can well vent itself either in crying or laughing," the alienist testified.

When Bonhoeffer examined and observed Van Der Lubbe last March, he said, he found no psychic disturbance and therefore was puzzled at the young man's behavior in court yesterday.

Aldermen to Meet With Work Relief To Consider Needs

Emergency Work Relief Committee Has Sufficient Funds to Last Until Early in October—Winter's Needs to be Considered and Discussed at Joint Meeting.

A special meeting of the common council to meet with the local emergency work relief committee has been called for Monday evening at the city hall to consider the needs of work relief in Kingston the coming winter. At the last meeting of the council M. H. Herzog, chairman of the work relief committee, informed the aldermen that the committee had about $20,000 left in their funds for work relief and that with a payroll of $4,000 a week, the funds would be exhausted early in October.

The joint meeting is called to discuss the situation in Kingston and to see whether it is considered necessary to call for another bond issue to raise funds for carrying on relief work this winter.

Before the joint meeting the finance committee of the council will meet in the mayor's office to consider the request of the board of public welfare that the sum of $25,300 be raised to carry on home relief and hospital work this winter.

Buy Farm Produce To Feed the Needy

Washington, Sept. 22 (P).—A $75,000,000 program promising aid simultaneously to the farmer and the unemployed today was directed by President Roosevelt to help bridge the gap between surplus supplies and consumption.

At the President's order, the agricultural adjustment and federal relief administrations prepared to purchase quantities of foodstuffs and staples for distribution to the destitute on relief rolls.

"Through his action much of the overabundance of important foodstuffs and staples will be placed in the hands of the destitute unemployed who are living on the short shift of public employment relief," said the White House announcement which President Roosevelt discussed with newspapermen.

The plan, as outlined personally by the chief executive last night, "will add to and not replace items of relief already provided."

Under consideration for handling in a manner similar to the 100,000,000 pounds of cured pork recently distributed by the relief administration were such products as beef, dairy and poultry products and products of cotton and cotton seed. Officials estimated $75,000,000 would be expended on such purchases but this figure was not final.

R.R. Brotherhoods Would Be Consulted

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22 (P).—Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, meeting here, today prepared a resolution on system consolidation after listening to a survey which voiced opposition. A. F. Whitney, president of the "Big Four" Brotherhood, said the resolution would oppose consolidation.

Tomorrow the Brotherhood officials, who are from the United States, Canada and Newfoundland, will go to Oneonta where 50 years ago the Brotherhood was founded.

The Jackson-Aldrich paper declared that Brotherhood officials should be called into merger discussions.

Wall Street Moving Over to New Jersey

New York, Sept. 22 (P).—The New York Stock Exchange will lose about 25 of its most active stocks on October 2, when trading will definitely be started in New Jersey, it was asserted in well-informed brokerage quarters in Wall Street today.

Leading brokers said with conviction that trading on the newly organized New Jersey Stock Exchange would start on that date, regardless of whether or not Mayor O'Brien had signed the law providing for the New York city taxes on brokers and stock transfers by that time.

While trading will begin with only about 25 stocks, it was explained that the New Jersey list would be expanded as rapidly as mechanical facilities would permit. Also, it was said that as soon as stocks were removed to New Jersey, trading in those shares would cease in the New York exchange.

Executives Hear Reports on Activities

The first fall meeting of the Executive Committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs was held on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the city library. Mrs. Harry B. Walker, president, presiding.

Following a few happy words of greeting from Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Louis Beeres, the new secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and Mrs. Terwilliger gave the treasurer's report for Mrs. Fraser, the treasurer.

As none of the clubs had held meetings this fall, there were no club reports.

Dr. Mary Gage-Day, chairman of the Public Health Committee, told of the Seal Sale Conference to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel, beginning Wednesday morning, September 27, at 10 o'clock and lasting through the luncheon. There will be distinguished speakers on the "TB Program of Recovery," among them being George J. Nelbach and Horace H. Hughes, Delaware, Schoharie, Columbia, Dutchess, Putnam, Orange, Sullivan counties will be represented.

This conference is being held in the hope of making the coming TB Christmas Seal sale more successful financially, than any previous sale has been. Preparations for the sale have already begun.

Dr. Day also called attention to the valuable little circular entitled, "Important Facts About Cancer," compiled and distributed by the Public Health Committee of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs, a copy of which was given to each member of the committee present.

Only the main, known facts about cancer were mentioned in the circular.

It was announced that Mrs. Frank Thompson, chairman of the Child Welfare Committee of the Federation would represent the Federation on the new Committee on Relief in the city, Dr. Jones, chairman.

Mrs. Fred Luther, chairman of the Moving Picture Committee, stated that the theatres had been very prompt in removing from the screen some unpatriotic pictures which had been objected to. Recently there had been some very good movies shown in the theatres.

The report of Miss Lucy Healy, chairman of the membership committee, included the resignation of Miss Jane Van Etten, who has moved to New York city. The same was received with regret. One new member was received into membership, Mrs. H. M. Nickerson. It was stated that there are still a number of individual members who have not yet paid their dues for this year, and a few who are even more in arrears. Undoubtedly through oversight. All such members are asked to be prompt in sending in their dollar dues to Mrs. J. C. Fraser, 23 Johnson avenue, treasurer of the Federation.

The Good Government Committee reported some activity during the summer.

Mrs. Ward Brigham, chairman of the Lecture Committee, reported on the possibility of securing Roy Chapman Andrews as lecturer and Dr. Helen D. Reid, chairman of International Cooperation committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs for the annual luncheon. Dr. Reid has been lecturing in Europe at The Hague this summer. It was voted to secure further information regarding both speakers for presentation to the clubs when they have their first meetings.

Mrs. Walker spoke of the Federation's gratification in securing Mrs. N. D. J. Murphy as the lieutenant general of the NRA Committee in this city.

NO SLEEPING SICKNESS IS REPORTED IN ULSTER CO

The state health department states that there is as yet no evidence of any epidemic of sleeping sickness in New York state such as is now sweeping St. Louis. The department states that the prevalence of the disease in New York state, "has remained low thus far." Figures made public by the state health department show that 45 cases were reported in New York city up to August 31, and 24 cases in the remainder of the state. As far as known no cases have been reported in Ulster county. Dr. L. E. Sanford, city health officer, states no cases have been reported in Kingston.

HAROLD KUEHN RECEIVED TRANSFUSION FROM COP

Harold Kuehn of Garden street, a pressman employed by The Freeman, had a tooth extracted recently and an infection set in. His condition was such Thursday evening it was necessary to remove him to the Kingston Hospital. This morning Dr. Chester E. Van Gaasbeck called at police headquarters seeking a volunteer willing to contribute a pint of blood to Mr. Kuehn as a blood transfusion was thought to be necessary. A number of the cops offered their blood and Officer Joseph Fallon was selected as his blood was found to match Kuehn's blood. The transfusion was performed at the hospital this noon.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mrs. and Mrs. Fred S. Hughes of 44 Washington avenue, a daughter, Veronica Eva, at Benedictine Hospital.

Chicago Gunmen Kill Policeman In Daylight Holdup

Chicago, Sept. 22 (P).—Behind a smoke screen laid in Chicago's loop today five gunmen staged a daring holdup of four Federal Reserve Bank employees and five minutes later shot and killed a policeman after their automobile collided with another.

The robbery, carefully planned and swiftly executed, probably will not net much in the way of loot, an official of the Federal Reserve Bank said. W. C. Bachman, cashier and assistant deputy governor of the bank, said he believed the two bags contained nothing but cashed checks from member banks.

The policeman killed as he and a fellow officer approached the desperadoes' car about a mile from the scene of the robbery, not knowing of the holdup, was Miles Cunningham, 3rd.

A moment before the machine had overturned after striking another, and as Cunningham and Policeman Morris Fitzgerald stepped into the street, the men crawled from the wreckage and sent a barrage of machine gun bullets toward the officers. Cunningham fell mortally wounded while Fitzgerald jumped behind a metal sign and returned the fire for a moment.

The desperadoes commandeered a passing motorist's machine and sped from the scene. A few minutes later they forced another motorist from his car and fled, leaving the other behind.

The whole chain of events including the robbery, the slaying of the policeman and the dramatic escape of the gunmen occurred in such swift succession that police were not informed of the holdup until word of the officer's death was received.

As told by the two Federal Reserve Bank messengers, Victor Plontkowski and Otto Wizar, and their guards, Proctor Hale and John McGillan, they were on their way from the postoffice to the Federal Reserve Bank when the gunmen appeared.

The messengers were pushing a hand truck on which were the mail bags along Jackson Boulevard, a main thoroughfare leading to the west side, when the gunmen's car passed them between Clark and La Salle streets.

A moment later the car drew to a halt at the curb and with heavy smoke pouring from its exhaust five men, three of them carrying machine guns, suddenly appeared. Pointing the guns at the guards they quickly disarmed them and lined all four up against the walls of the adjacent Continental Trust Company.

Then, working methodically, they transferred the bags from the truck to a second automobile that had been slowly following in the rear, and in a second were off in it heading west in Jackson Boulevard.

A few minutes later the second machine crashed into another at Adams and Halsted streets, about a mile from the scene of the holdup, as Officers Cunningham and Fitzgerald were passing.

Witnesses said the two policemen did not have a chance to defend themselves, the robbers opening fire the moment they saw them approaching as they crawled from the wrecked machine. It carried Florida license plates.

In the machine abandoned at the scene of the killing police found a map which had been heavily "hunched" in the vicinity of Kansas City and Oklahoma, leading to the theory that the desperadoes may have been members of either the George (Machine Gun) Kelly or Verne Miller gangs.

Great Britain, Italy, France Agree on Arms

Paris, Sept. 22 (P).—A complete three-power accord among France, Great Britain and Italy on disarmament and arms control was said today to have been reached but the question of penalties still was unfinished.

Norman H. Davis, American disarmament representative, was expected by the French to give general support to the plan, thus making possible a four-power front at the impending Geneva arms conference.

Mr. Davis, Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour of France, and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon of Great Britain, were to meet this evening. Disarmament questions also were discussed at a luncheon at the British embassy given by Lord Tyrrell, the British ambassador. Among the guests were Sir John Simon, Stanley Baldwin, British cabinet member who came to Paris from his vacation at Aix-les-Bains and Captain Anthony Eden and Alexander G. M. Cadogan, British diplomatic representative.

WESTCHESTER P. S. CASES ADJOURNED TO ULSTER TERM

Monticello, N. Y., Sept. 22 (P).—The court test of the Public Service Commission's order to reduce gas and electric rates in New York city and Westchester county was adjourned today until October 15 at Kingston. Supreme Court Justice Stephen Foster granted the adjournment with the consent of counsel for both the commission and the six utility companies involved.

Walton Will Head Boy Scout Campaign

State Senator Charles W. Walton will head the Boy Scout campaign in Kingston, announced General Chairman G. D. B. Hasbrouck today. Preliminaries are now under way in all communities of Ulster and Greene counties and the opening date of the drive in Kingston has been tentatively set as October 16.

In his acceptance of the city chairmanship Senator Walton emphasized his interest in such a purposeful organization, supplementing, as it does, both church and school.

"We must realize," he said, "our responsibility to the boys who will be the leaders of tomorrow. Every citizen can readily see what it will mean to our city, county, state, and nation if these boys are given the opportunity of Scout training. I accept the Kingston chairmanship; therefore, with a deep sense of the responsibility that rests on all of us."

"In Scouting, boys get the knowledge of how to do things, of how to mix with others and to stand on their own responsibility that they can obtain in no other way. It is this ability, above all others, that our youth need today."

"Youth cannot wait for better times. A boy grows up only once. If we neglect him now, we have only ourselves to blame if he turns out to be delinquent instead of an asset to our community. It is not enough to feed and clothe a boy. He must be trained and led to become a good citizen. The Scout movement helps fill America's greatest need: men of character prepared for citizenship."

The record of the Ulster-Greene Council should be a source of pride, Chairman Walton asserted. He said that few citizens of Ulster and Greene counties realize that the enrollment of Scouts under the local Council banner has shown an increase every month for the past 37 months; and that the yearly budget has decreased.

"But we must raise the money to assure the continuance of this all-important work," he asserted. "Kingston should do her share, and I am confident that she will. It is our plan to have at least seven divisions of workers recruited before the campaign. In each division there will be four teams consisting of a captain and five volunteer workers. We want de-centralization of work so that every interested citizen may be seen and so that no worker will be asked to assume any great part of the responsibility."

"We appeal to every local man and woman who can do so to help by their efforts and to all who are in any way able to contribute to give generously. The boys are looking to us. We must not fail them."

PARIS POLICE SEEK TRAIL OF LINDBERGH KIDNAPERS

Paris, Sept. 22 (P).—The trail of the Lindbergh kidnapers was sought today by Paris police who said that they had the name of a man who had in his possession a $1,000 note identified by the Bank of England as part of the ransom money extorted from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh last year.

(The Lindbergh ransom money was paid in United States $5, $10 and $20 bills, and heretofore there has been no report that British currency was involved. The American bills might, however, have been exchanged for British currency and the $1,000 note later have been traced to that exchange.)

Three men were arrested in Antwerp, it was reported, after trying to cash the British note. It later disappeared but was recovered in a judge's wastebasket. One of the prisoners later revealed that the bill had been enclosed in an envelope addressed to the judge and mailed after the three had been surrounded by police.

The judge thought the matter a joke and gave the envelope to a clerk who crumpled it and threw it away.

EX-CONVICT CHARGED WITH FATAL SHOOTING OF SMITH

New York, Sept. 22 (P).—Martin Duffy, an ex-convict, was in the police lineup here today charged with the fatal shooting of Martin Smith, a former pugilist, in an aftermath of one of the bitterest district election campaigns on record.

Smith had been an active worker for Michael T. McCarron, who wrested the Tammany leadership in the 14th Assembly District from Thomas Farley, leader for nearly 20 years and former sheriff. Duffy, a Farley supporter, is said to have elected Smith from a restaurant after an election argument. The shooting followed.

FARMER KILLED WHEN TRAIN PLOWS INTO HERD OF COWS

Little Falls, N. Y., Sept. 22 (P).—Ward Decker, 41, was killed today when a New York Central train plowed into a herd of cows which he was driving across the tracks, burying one of the animals against Decker. Six cows were killed.

Decker's skull was fractured. His sister, Cora, helping him drive the cows to a pasture, was not hurt. Decker's farm is five miles east of Little Falls.

Upton Sinclair Will Run

New York, Sept. 22 (P).—Neither his son's regretful "Oh, Dad," nor the lightning of old colleagues' wrath could stop Upton Sinclair today from going through with his plan of running for governor of California on the Democratic ticket.

Strikers Arrive And Start Picketing The Silk Mill In City

About 150 Strike Organizers From New Jersey Arrive in City in Trucks to Picket Katterman & Mitchell Mill on Cornell Street—Police and State Troopers on Job.

This morning a number of trucks drove into Kingston from New Jersey loaded with about 150 strike organizers who were unloaded on Cornell street in front of the Katterman & Mitchell silk mill, which they started to picket.

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood as soon as he received word of the arrival of the strike organizers immediately assigned every available man and several special officers to the scene to maintain order and also called on the State Troopers, who are assisting.

At noon today Chief Wood said that no reports of any real disorder had reached him, but that the police and state troopers stood ready to prevent any disorder.

It is understood that the strike organizers are here in an effort to unionize the silk mills. There has been trouble, it is said, at the silk mills in Port Jervis and also in New Jersey.

Milk Board Keeps Contact With Code

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 22 (P).—The New York State Milk Control Board is keeping close contact, through two representatives, with the committee of 18 seeking to draft a code of cooperation for milkmen in New York and its neighbor states, state milk Director Kenneth F. Fee said today.

Farmers in northern New York have notified the board and Governor Lehman that they are opposed to the tentative plan of the industry's committee to pool the milk of the New York milkshed and return an average price per hundred pounds to them.

Although Dr. Leland Spencer, the milk board's special research investigator, and Henry S. Manley, counsel to the board, are attending the conferences in New York city, the board is represented as having made no decision yet as to what plan it favors.

"The purpose of the committee," Director Fee explained, "is to see whether it is possible to secure a marketing agreement under the Agriculture Adjustment Act, which might be of service to dairymen in New York and nearby states."

Mr. Fee said the board understood that no attempt was to be made "to force farmers to do anything."

See Ford Plant On 32-Hour Week Basis

Detroit, Sept. 22 (P).—There were strong indications today that the Ford Motor Co. within a fortnight will place its employees on a 32-hour week basis, thus bringing the company within the work week provision of the NRA automotive code which it has not signed.

Although there was no official statement from the company, comment in automotive circles generally was that the company is revising its working schedules so that employees will work 64 hours every two weeks, averaging 32 hours a week. The NRA automotive code provides for a 35-hour work week, and a minimum pay of 42 cents an hour.

The Ford scale at present is 50 cents an hour for the lowest paid employees.

Supervisors Will Meet Saturday

A meeting of the board of supervisors will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the court house. Routine matters will be taken up as well as highway, bridge and snow removal matters. The meeting was to have been held Thursday evening but was postponed as many members desired to attend the Shriners' ceremonial held here.

Russian Harvest Ample

Moscow, Sept. 22 (P).—Soviet Russia now has a grain crop so rich as to preclude a possible recurrence this year of a food shortage that recently caused many deaths of humans and cattle. This was apparent during a week's tour just completed by The Associated Press correspondent in the Ukraine and North Caucasus. Russia's huge bread baskets.

Seeking Gold and Silver

All having articles of old gold or silver, solid or plated, which they would be willing to contribute to the Missionary Fund of the First Dutch Reformed Church, may bring their articles to the church Sunday morning, September 24.

Shriners Paraded Thursday Evening Before Thousands

Parade Followed by Reception to Imperial Potentate Sebrrell and Other High Officers—Staged Ceremonial and Entertainment in Old Armory.

The traditional good luck of the Shriners held good yesterday for although it rained heavily to the north of Kingston, no rain fell here except an occasional drop or two. They received one of the greatest welcomes that any organization has received in a long time and will be one long to be remembered in the ranks of Shrinedom.

Imperial Potentate John N. Sebrrell said that for a city of 3,000 it was astounding to see the thousands upon thousands that lined the sidewalks along the entire line of march, and similar expressions by other visiting Shriners showed clearly how much they appreciated the warm welcome given them.

The parade was a brilliant affair as it came down the street led by Dr. Samuel Stern as grand marshal, and ably assisted by Herbert E. Thomas, Samuel J. Messinger and Frank L. Brown.

The famous Cyprus band in their colorful uniforms made a very pleasing appearance and followed by the Cyprus Temple Patrol in their green, yellow and white uniforms, with flashing swords, made a pretty picture.

Immediately following the patrol were the officers of Cyprus, making a handsome appearance in their full dress suits with black and white capes, canes and red fezzes, followed by the visiting potentates and other officials in full dress.

Riding in an open car and acknowledging the greetings given them along the line of march were Imperial Potentate John N. Sebrrell, Illustrate Potentate John Boyd Thacher, the Hon. J. R. Watts and Philip Eiling, with the Shriners marching in back wearing their red fezzes.

The second division was led by the local American Legion Five and Drum Corps, who made a very picturesque appearance in their handsome new uniforms and by the tremendous amount of applause received along the entire line of march showed the high esteem in which they are held by Kingstonsians.

When the parade reached the old armory on Broadway the Shriners split their ranks so that the American Legion Drum Corps could march through, which permitted every visiting Shriner the privilege of seeing that fine outfit in action.

The balance of the second division was made up of Shriners. A parade of the parade was William H. Van Etten and M. H. Herzog in full dress carrying two billy goats owned by Bert Chambers. Each goat was wearing a red fez. Directly back of the goats were eight or ten local Shriners dressed as candidates, tied together with a big rope.

Before the parade started the Shriners were treated to a fine course dinner at the various local hotels and restaurants who served a special menu for the occasion. As soon as the Shriners had finished their dinner the parade was formed.

A monster reception and ceremonial was given at the old armory building which had been gayly decorated on the inside with pennants and flags. It was estimated that over two thousand were seated in the armory.

A beautiful oriental rug was presented by Cyprus Temple to the Imperial Potentate.

Following the ceremonial a big vaudeville program was staged by Al Skeas of New York city which all Shriners agreed was one of the best they have witnessed at any ceremonial as the talent was exceptionally high class and clever. Paul Zucca and his ten piece orchestra furnished music for the vaudeville.

The entire affair from start to finish was a wonderful success and the Kingston Shriners' Association wish to extend their thanks for everyone who in any way helped and especially to the general public for the fine spirit of hospitality extended the visitors and the manner in which they turned out to witness the parade. They also appreciated the splendid manner in which the local police department handled the police arrangements which was everything one could wish for. They also wish to acknowledge the kindness of Masonic Lodge No. 343, in loaning their chairs for use in the armory.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN RATHFEE, HUSBAND HELD

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 22 (P).—The body of Mrs. Mary Bonomi, 35, mother of three children, was found today, submerged in water in the bathtub in her home. Her head bore wounds from a blunt instrument.

Alongside the bathtub the woman's husband, Philip, 42, was found in a critical condition, bleeding from the wrists which had been slashed. Police charged him with homicide and took him to a hospital.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 22 (P).—The position of the treasury September 20 was: Receipts, $113,213,342.93; expenditures, $109,876,645.04; balance, $11,295,126,579.59. Customs receipts for the month, $20,950,833.92. Receipts for the fiscal year to date (since July 1), $609,355,897.98; expenditures, $502,570,873.49 (including $265,879,707.37 emergency expenditures); excess of expenditures, $102,781,880.51.

FORD CAR SALES SHOW

BIG INCREASE IN AUGUST.

Production of Ford cars and trucks in September has been scheduled at the same high daily rate as in August. It was announced at the offices of the Ford Motor Company, Detroit. This situation, it was said, is unprecedented. August production was the greatest for the year to date.

August retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks reached the greatest volume for the year thus far, and were 41 1/2 per cent greater than August, 1932. Indicating the rising volume of Ford sales during a time when usually sales volume registers a decline.

The retail sales volume of Ford passenger cars in August was the largest since June, 1932, and the retail sales of Ford trucks the greatest since October, 1931.

Daily sales volume in August is being maintained in September, it was said, on the basis of reports of sales by dealers for the first six business days in the month.

FRENCH SAVANT VICTIM

OF TOMB'S VENGEANCE

Paris (AP)—Friends of J. F. Cellerier, noted French research scientist, are wondering if he is the latest victim of King Tut-ankh-amen's vengeance on the excavators of his tomb. Cellerier has lost the use of his left eye as a result of ultra-violet ray tests on a small wooden statue from an ancient Egyptian funeral chamber, sent to him by Henri Verne, director of national museums.

In the test, he was astonished to observe "an exceptional luminosity" emanating from the figure. Shortly afterward he felt a pain in his left eye, from which he eventually lost the sight.

He did not dare to blame the strange brilliancy of the statue, said his official report, "although it certainly had been coated with an unknown organic substance." He hopes to regain the use of his eye on a month's leave of absence from the national physical testing laboratory, of which he is director.

Honors for Mr. Owl

The owl is venerated by some Indians for his wisdom and given the rank of a minor god. Ducks, wild geese, mountain blue jays, and various other birds are held in high esteem and never bothered by Indian hunters.

NO COLD FEET FOR HITLER

SAYS AGED HAUSFRAU

Neudorf, Germany. (AP)—Knitting two pairs of woolen socks for Adolf Hitler to wear at his Bavarian mountain retreat was the greatest joy which Frau Marie Kleeman had when she celebrated her 102nd birthday recently.

A special Nazi guard of honor visited her, and a congratulatory telegram from Hitler and a costly porcelain cup and saucer from the Prussian government were among the gifts.

"Mother" Kleeman's pride, however, centered in the socks. She mailed them to Hitler that same day and explained: "They'll keep Herr Hitler's feet warm even in the coldest weather. I'm sure he'll need them."

3 ALWAYS LUCKIES PLEASE

Why do we say "Always Luckies Please"? Well, one reason is that every Lucky is made of choice, ripe tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop. Another reason—Luckies are always round, firm, fully packed—with no loose ends to sputter and spark.

Careful examination and inspection by over 60 precision instruments and 17 alert scientists guarantee unfailing uniformity. That's why Luckies draw so easily, burn so evenly—always mild and smooth. And that's why—"Always Luckies Please!"

Threats of Revolt Continue In Havana

Capital Will Be Hungry If Strike Continues Another Week—Two Rebels Reported Killed in Clash.

Havana, Sept. 22 (AP).—With outward calm this capital today sat on a tinder box of rebellion and hunger. The government of President Ramon Grau San Martin was still at odds with its political foes, but was expected to reply negatively to the opposition's demands for his resignation.

Soldiers still had trouble with rebel forces of Juan Blas Hernandez, veteran campaigner against former President Machado, in Camaguey Province.

And, as available stores of foodstuffs dwindled, residents of Havana checked their supplies as warehousemen continued on strike and estimates were made that the capital would go hungry if the strike continues another week.

Representative of the student disaffection, leaders of the pro-government factions, conferred last night and early today with Miguel Mariano Gomez, leader of the Marianistas, one of the five leading opposition groups.

It was understood the students tried to persuade the former mayor of Havana to relent in his insistence that Grau San Martin quit in favor of a "truly nationalist government."

There were rumblings below the surface. At a manifestation of 5,000 persons around the presidential palace there were cheers for Grau San Martin and fights in which one man was critically stabbed when he disagreed with another in the crowd.

The first actual conflict between the government's soldier-student army and the rebels occurred at Las Cuevas in Camaguey, and reports said, two of the Blas Hernandez's followers were killed. Several members of the government's forces were said to have been wounded.

YALE FOOTBALL SQUAD RECOVERS FROM ILLNESS

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 22 (AP).—The ailment which affected seven members of the Yale football squad and an assistant manager, passed today as quickly as it came, and the men all were released from the New Haven Hospital.

"It was an acute stomach upset—one of those things that makes you feel like the devil for a few hours—but then you're all right again after a few hours," said Dr. Orville Rogers, acting medical director.

Dr. Rogers said the men would be able to return to the gridiron soon. He said it had not been determined what food upset them.

Noted Astronomer Dead.

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 22 (AP).—The Rev. Dr. D. B. Marsh, noted astronomer, died at his home today after an illness of several months. He was 75 years old.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Hollywood is its own "location" these days, with three films simultaneously in process of telling the world about Hollywood.

Two of them are musical. "The Hollywood Party" brings in Lupe Vélez, Jimmie Durante, Marie Dressler, Polly Moran, Joan Crawford, Jean Harlow and other celebrities in a pretentious comedy revue. "Going Hollywood" has Marion Davies, Stuart Erwin, Fifi Dorsay and Bing Crosby.

The dramatic movie feature is "Bombshell," with Jean Harlow and Lee Tracy.

All From One Studio
It's an unusual cycle, at that. Hollywood frequently in the past has turned the cameras upon itself, but usually the annual group of Hollywood features comes from different studios. This time M-G-M is making all three.

Despite all the free Hollywood atmosphere around, most of the scenes are being taken within studio walls.

It's cheaper to reproduce the interiors of star-haunted Hollywood cafes on a sound stage than to take a cast to the actual spot, because Hollywood passers-by are just as curious about movie doings as the fans from out of town.

For the scene in "Bombshell" the M-G-M studio entrance is used, disguised by a sign of the "Monarch Film." Here Jean Harlow is shown making her entrance pursued by a mob of autograph-hunters, who in this case were, like the gate, the real thing. Around every studio entrance the small boys and girls cluster clutching their notebooks.

Billing That Waxes
"Captured" was made as a co-starring vehicle for Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Leslie Howard, but it is being advertised here without the Fairbanks name. The same was true of "The Narrow Corner," which starred young Doug alone. Doug, Jr. is no longer with the studio, while Howard is making more pictures for it. That may explain it in part.

But billing is a variable thing. Stars fight for it in contracts, and on the screen their names appear in specified order.

But theater managers often have their own ideas, selling new stars on the upgrade. Marie Dressler was starred by exhibitors before the studio formally bestowed the title.

After Mae West's hit in "She Done Him Wrong" she drew star billing in an earlier film in which her part was small. May Robson rates second in billing to Warren William in "Lady for a Day," but since the previews she is going to New York as his star.

HURLEY
Hurley, Sept. 21—Miss Sarah De Witt, who has been spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mathew DeWitt, will leave at the end of this week for Washington, D. C.

The Berean class repeated their two plays, "A Good Girl in the Kitchen" and "Why Wives Walk Out," with other entertainment at the North Marlborough Church on Tuesday evening.

Minard Elmendorf and Frank Snyder were elected Republican committeemen at the primaries.

Bartlett Chappell left Wednesday for St. Stephen's College where he will enter as a freshman.

Mrs. W. Scott Smith, Miss Agnes Smith, and Miss Henrietta Myer called on Mr. and Mrs. James McPherson on Monday afternoon.

Miss Hilda Foster of Hurley avenue spent Tuesday evening at the Briar homestead.

The Republican caucus will be held Monday evening at the Town Hall.

Because of the change of time starting Sunday, Sunday school will be held at 9:30, church 10:30 and Christian Endeavor 7:30.

MASTER PAINTERS WILL MEET THIS EVENING
A meeting of all master painters, union and non-union, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Elk's Club on Fair street. The NRA painters' code will be discussed.

Early Specie Currency
Between the close of the revolution and the establishment of the first United States mint in 1792 specie currency was extremely rare in the United States. Tokens, local coins and paper money issued by Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Vermont were the basis of trade.

COOK BOOK MENACES ESKIMO'S DIGESTION

Modern Recipes to Inject Novelty Into Diet.

Washington.—Dyspepsia and indigestion are probably in store for Greenland Eskimos. Late news dispatches from Copenhagen state that a cook book of 450 recipes has been compiled to inject novelty into the simple Eskimo diet. The volume will be translated into the native Greenland dialect.

"Igloo cookery presents few problems," according to a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "The Eskimo wife has never known the stirrings of her white sister to excel as a 'fancy cook.' Her husband has never repaid her with tales of the pies his mother used to bake, for he has never tasted pastry or candy of any sort in his life. Meat is his almost unvarying food. The meat of the polar bear, seal, walrus, caribou, white whale, narwhal, and musk oxen, are all palatable to him.

Simple Equipment.
"The average Eskimo bride starting housekeeping in a new igloo needs only four things in the way of furnishings: a meat knife, lamp, cooking pot, and sewing kit. The blubber-burning lamp, which also serves as a stove, is usually near the entrance to the hut. Suspended from the ceiling above it hangs a large soapstone cooking pot from which comes the aroma of boiling seal meat. At the sound of the sleds returning from the day's hunting expedition, the Eskimo wife, crouching over the stove, stirs the pot of simmering seal meat for her husband's supper.

"Dropping in for an evening meal with an Eskimo family, one would see old and young squatting on their heels, and each ready with a knife. Each member of the group takes a piece of juicy, cooked seal or walrus meat in his left hand, shoves it into his mouth, and seizes a strip between his teeth. With a deft stroke of the knife, he cuts off a mouthful, just at the lips. Oftentimes liver and blubber are held in each hand, and eaten alternately. The meat is washed down with draughts of ice-cold water.

No Fruits or Vegetables.
"Fruits and vegetables are unknown items in the diet of the Eskimo. When the meat supply is exhausted, the Greenland Eskimos gather rockweed and kelp, and dig the bark of willow bush out of the frozen soil. This is cooked into a jelly in the soapstone pot. This food, however, is not pleasing to the Eskimo palate, and is eaten only to stave off starvation when more desirable food is unobtainable. The nearest approach to ordinary vegetable matter consumed by the Eskimo is the semi-digested moss found in the stomachs of the caribou. This material becomes the Eskimo's 'greens.'

"Fish eaten either boiled or raw, offer variety to the menu. Clams are also included in the seafood dishes of the Greenland Eskimo. He obtains them via the stomach of some freshly-killed walrus who has just feasted upon the mollusks. 'Stuffed head of walrus' is undoubtedly the subject of at least one of the new recipes designed for the Greenlanders. They are fond of the unadorned head, and could possibly cultivate a taste for an elaborate preparation of it.

"In the Greenland spring, the dove-tie, or little auk, appears. This means another dietary change for the natives. Through the summer hundreds of these birds are netted and stored for food during the long winter months. The eggs of the older duck, the brant goose, and the gull are the object of an intense search near the end of June each year. The family egg supply for the coming winter is stored in stone caches where the eggs become chilled first, and then frozen. They remain in this condition until eaten in the winter. Not all of the eggs collected are stored, however, for the Eskimo wife prepares an egg sausage, sometimes using as many as 300 eggs to one sausage. The eggs are broken and poured into a washed seal intestine, and in this state are eaten from time to time throughout the winter."

Coffee Stimulation Is Aided by Adding Cream

Norman, Okla.—Coffee with cream has a greater stimulating effect than black coffee, results of a scientific experiment at the University of Oklahoma disclose.

Mrs. Lottie Mae Russell, Norman graduate student, found that coffee with cream produces a stimulation of 7.7 per cent at the end of 30 minutes and 7.6 per cent at the end of an hour. Black coffee produces a stimulation of 3.8 per cent after 30 minutes and 5.6 per cent after an hour. Blood metabolism tests were taken to arrive at the conclusions.

Indian Tribes Divided.
Fort Worth, Texas.—Texas Indians, who once numbered more than 100,000, have dwindled to about 1,000 at present. Peaceful bands of the Alabama and Comanche tribes live today with their squaws on a reservation in Polk county, Texas.

Must Light Up Horses.
Chabara, Texas.—A horse is a vehicle, according to an old Chabara city ordinance. And like other vehicles used in the ordinance, he must wear two lamps in front and two in the rear from 30 minutes before sunset to 30 minutes after sunrise.

Local NRA Official Notices and Rulings

Profit and Loss.
One of the first profit and loss statements made was "What shall I do if I am not to be paid for the whole year?" This was established that it is necessary to life a life, to operate a business to raise a crop or to sell a piece of property for the very good reason that if the losses or expenses are more than the profits or income, the result is failure. Failure may be put off by the exhausting of resources or by borrowing but sooner or later any continued loss operation comes to an unsuccessful end. The President's new deal, through adjustment of prices, increase of buying power through higher wages and re-employment and the elimination of unfair competition, will put business, which may be called "capital," and employment and agriculture, which may be called "labor," on a profitable basis. In order to secure any profit, something must be produced or sold for more than cost. Someone must buy or no actual profit will be secured. Also, from accumulated profits comes the money to finance business expansion, to create added employment to build new homes, new institutions and public improvements. No money, of course, can be spent by a worker until it is first earned and no money can be spent by a farmer, by a merchant or by a corporation until it is first made by the profitable operation of the farm or business.

For those who are fortunate in the possession of an income, the "Buy Now" campaign affords an opportunity to give a real helping hand at this time. Everybody's welfare is greatly dependent upon the success of this campaign. Give the other fellow a profit and a profit will come back to you.

CLUSTER CO. NEA COMMITTEE.
ACCORD
Accord, Sept. 22—Church services will be held in Rochester Reformed Church, Sunday, September 24, as follows: Bible school at 9:30 a. m.; lesson subject, "Quarterly Review"; Divine worship at 10:30 a. m.; sermon subject, "Salvation: How?" Sunday school and divine worship will be held at the Cherrytown Reformed Church, Sunday, September 24, at 2 p. m.
Allen Coddington, formerly a resident of Accord, was in town last Wednesday.
The Patron Grange will meet Monday, September 25, at 5 p. m. in the Reformed Church basement. The committee in charge of the lecturer's hour has an interesting program planned for the evening.

An evening of games will be held Wednesday, September 27, at the O. O. F. Hall in Accord, for the benefit of the Accord grade school. Proceeds of the party will be spent for playground equipment.
A chicken dinner will be served by the ladies of the M. E. Church in the church hall Thursday, September 28, at 12 o'clock noon. Menu will consist of chicken with gravy, biscuits, mashed potatoes, sweet corn, pickles, time salad supreme, squash pie and coffee.
On account of change in time of arrival of mail train, effective Monday, September 25, the R. F. D. carrier will leave Accord at 11 a. m.

one hour later than the present leaving time.
Mr. and Mrs. Percy Garley attended the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass., on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.
The Ladies Aid will hold its monthly business meeting at 3 o'clock. All members are requested to be present. The public is invited to attend the dinner.
Variety of Equipment
Automobiles are taking the place of horses to a great extent for use by the Chamberlain family. The force, composed of three officers and men, is equipped with the latest models of motor cycles, 15 trunks, 100 bags, both sea-going and for use on land waters; 445 sled dogs and 200 horses.

Breakfast Foods Are Popular
New ideas, when worthwhile and put forward with persistent effort, always pay handsome dividends, as evidenced in the fact that cereal breakfast foods not so long ago were unknown. Now they have become universal dishes, and production has climbed to more than $100,000,000 annually.
Mammoth Jawbone
The jawbone of a prehistoric hairy mammoth, the most perfect fossil ever found in Texas, was uncovered in a sand pit within 500 feet of a palatial home at El Paso, Texas. A Texas school of mines geologist said the great animal probably lived in a marsh 10,000 or 20,000 years ago, and died.

Thrilling Attempt at Escape Stopped By Foreign Legion

Sousse, Tunisia, Sept. 22.—Two persistent German soldiers, William Schultzy and Peter Bohlen, were charged with trying to steal poison, buy, shoot and swim their way out of the Foreign Legion in one of the most dramatic French leaves on record.

The harder they tried, it seems, the more of a jam they got into until their desperate took the form of a movie thriller.

The two Legionnaires, no longer fond of the life imposed by the French military regulations, on the First Regiment stationed here, far from their native Berlin, decided to desert, the authorities charge. Flat broke in the way of money, their first thought was to overcome that handicap.

Bohlen, to the record reads, attempted to poison a captain, whose orderly he was, by serving a sleeping potion with his lunch. The officer did not like the appearance of the water presented to him and refused to drink it.

Bohlen bided his time. Came the latest hour and Bohlen, prodding by the sleep of his superior, profound enough without the soporific, stole his boots, a camera and 150 francs.

Part of the money he gave to a stranger he had met in a cafe who had promised to put him and Schultzy on a steamer bound for Malta. Whereupon the stranger disappeared from the picture.

Picked Up.

After waiting a long time on a beach where the stranger said he would meet them, Schultzy and Bohlen wandered to Hergla, a town of Mediterranean sailors 15 miles from Sousse. There, it happened, they were halted and arrested by suspicious customs agents. After a sharp fight the two Legionnaires were put aboard a small boat in the harbor for return to Sousse.

But Schultzy and Bohlen were undaunted. While Bohlen waited in a corner for the boat's engineer to pass, ready to hit him with a bottle, Schultzy confronted the skipper with a leveled revolver he had hidden from the customs agents. The skipper promptly knocked Schultzy overboard with a punch in the jaw.

Fished From the Sea. Schultzy, who didn't know how to swim, started to sink. Bohlen, meanwhile, jumped into the sea and swam toward shore. He was seized, however, when he reached land, while the boat's crew fished out Schultzy.

Under a strong escort this time the two hapless Legionnaires were turned over to gendarmes at Sousse. Frieda Schild, a hotel chambermaid, also arrested and accused of complicity, subsequently was released. Her role, if any, was not revealed.

MARION ROBERTS IS DISMISSED AT LAST

Catskill, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—Attorney General John J. Bennett's two-year investigation of racketeering activities in the Catskills was at an end today following the dismissal of the last of the indictments against Marion "Kiki" Roberts, former Broadway showgirl and friend of the late Jack "Legs" Diamond.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley yesterday dismissed two indictments charging Miss Roberts with second degree assault in connection with the kidnapping and torture of Grover Parks, Catskill truckman, more than two years ago. The attorney general suggested that the case be closed.

Parks was accused by the gangster chief of attempting to "muscle in" on Diamond's lucrative beer running operations. It was this case which brought on the two famous Diamond trials. "Kiki" Roberts was alleged to have taken part in the torture. Arrested two years ago in Watervliet, she was later released on $2,500 bail. The bail was ordered returned to bondsmen yesterday.

Diamond was shot to death by gang enemies in December, 1931, the morning after he had been found not guilty of torturing Parks. He had spent the night with friends celebrating his acquittal and had left "Kiki's" room only a short time before he was slain in an Albany rooming house.

Lake Katrine Grange Meeting Held Monday

Lake Katrine, Sept. 22.—Monday evening, September 18, the regular meeting of Lake Katrine Grange was held at the Grange Hall. There were 29 brothers and 39 sisters present. The officers reported absent were the assistant steward, treasurer and the lady assistant steward.

Sister K. Parish, as chairman of the August committee, turned into the treasury $22.21 for the month. Sister Parish, as delegate to Pomona, also gave a very interesting report.

Plattekill Grange has extended to this Grange an invitation to visit them on "Neighbors' Night," September 23. The lecturer is planning on arranging two musical numbers for that night. Local Grangers are planning to attend.

Wednesday evening, September 27, this Grange will observe Boosters' Night at the Grange Hall. This is a community affair and the public is cordially invited to attend and have a good time. There will be an entertainment and refreshments free of charge.

Monday evening, September 25, the Grange is invited to visit Asbury Grange, which will receive the Patrons' Home on that evening.

Monday evening, October 2, Asbury Grange will visit here and present to this Grange the Patrons' Home.

Monday evening, October 23, the Grange will present Bonedale Grange with the Patrons' Home.

All patrons are requested to note these dates and attend if possible. Sister E. Nance, County Home Bureau agent, was present to judge the bread making contest. Sister Nance gave an interesting talk about the Home Bureau work and the program for the coming year. Also about the landscape tour which was held quite recently.

Sister B. Ten Broeck thanked the Grange for the flowers that were sent to her during her illness.

Brother Harry Van Aken reported.

Literary Hour: A great disappointment was in store for all when informed that Mr. Leigh would not be able to be present. Mr. Leigh was suddenly called back to New York city by the Museum of Natural History to paint background scenes for African animal groups, which are now being made by the Museum.

If necessary, Mr. Leigh will go to Africa to obtain material. The opening song on the literary hour was sung by the Grange. A poem by Edgar Guest, "Canning Time," read by Sister M. Brink. Selections by the Flora Dora Kitchen Quartet, "Yankee Doodle" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." The brothers then named their favorite food. The sisters named their favorite kitchen implement. A reading, "A Mother's Job," read by Sister Young. An efficiency contest won by Sister Kukuk. Song by Grange, "Love's Old

Mark Twain Great Funny Man. America's greatest funny man was unquestionably Mark Twain, and his life blanketed our continent. He was at times a Mississippi river pilot, a printer, a gold miner, a lecturer, traveler and publisher. He could, and did, make people laugh till they cried. He could do so because he understood people. With his own natural talent sharpened by the vicissitudes of his life, he had a sympathetic understanding of men which gave him a universal audience.

Kingston: "Broadway to Hollywood." Another Hollywood musical that is as good or better than those that have gone before. Pictures in production, the rise and fall of stars, the heartbreaks, the comedy and the tragedy of the show business all pass before the camera in glittering array. Songs, dances, laughs and any number of pretty girls are to be found in this musical drama. Jimmy Durante, Alice Brady, Madge Evans, Eddie Quillan, Jackie Cooper and Frank Morgan are featured members of a gigantic cast. Well screened, well directed and well dialogued, this musical treat has all the ingredients of a successful entertainment feature.

Orpheum: "Adorable" and "Cross Fires." Janet Gaynor, more winsome than ever, has a brand new sweetheart in this talkie, a fairy story of a princess who falls in love with one of her soldiers. He of course doesn't know she is a princess, but he loves her just the same. Henry Garat is the new leading man, and he makes a dashing and romantic lover for little Miss Gaynor. The photography in this show is unusual and different, and several catchy tunes add charm to the production. Tom Keene, braver than ever in "Cross Fires," goes through all manner of difficulty and danger in this western yarn.

Broadway: "The Crime of the Century." Stuart Erwin, Jean Hersholt, Frances Dee and Wynn Gibson are among those present in this acceptable murder mystery that is handled adroitly and interestingly, and a novel plot makes the play the more exciting. Dr. Brandt, a clever old fellow played to perfection by Jean Hersholt, plans a perfect crime, a crime without a possible flaw. In order to keep himself from doing it, he appeals to the law for assistance. However, the crime is committed despite all this. Who did it? That's the plot. A good show with its full share of thrills and it also gives the audience an opportunity to think, if they care for that sort of thing.

Tomorrow.
Kingston: "Penthouse." From the pen of Arthur S. Roche comes this modern story of crime and adventure, pleasure and sophistication, neatly done by a fine cast that includes both Warner Baxter and Myrna Loy. It's all about this day and age, and proves exciting screen drama. Sprightly, daring and well directed, it tells of a famous big city criminal lawyer who saves a gangster from the electric chair, and this same gangster dies rather than betray his friend. Amid the brilliance of penthouse life, show girls and gangsters, this melodrama emerges as one of the most enjoyable tales to visit the screen in several months. Although murder and betrayal play a large part in the screen and plot, the show is so well done that it enhances rather than detracts from the entertainment value of the play. Mae Clarke, Phillips Holmes, Charles Butterworth, Martha Sleeper, Nat Pendleton, Raymond Hatton and C. Henry Gordon are all in the large cast. A show without a dull moment.

Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: "Captured." Exceptional performances by Leslie Howard, Paul Lukas and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., catalogue this talkie as one of the best of the current season. Taken from the novel "Fellow Prisoners," it treats of the brutality and horror of war, and the fate of those stranded in a German prison camp. It is also the story of two friends, both in love with the same girl. Prison breaks, melodramatic war thrills, romance and excitement are all blended into the story, and although the plot is unbelievable because of its very sensationalism, still the inspired acting of the always capable Leslie Howard almost makes the talkie seem true. Margaret Lindsay and Arthur Hohl are also in the cast.

AVOIDING A CATASTROPHE

There was a man at the door. "You belong to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, don't you?" he inquired of the lady who opened the door.

"Yes, I am one of the officers. What can I do for you?" the lady answered. "I have composed a song which I wish to dedicate to the society," said the man. "Might I sing it for you?" "Yes," responded the lady. "Wait till I put the cat out of the room," said the man.

Married Life
Mrs. Newlywed—Now, John, only for me you would have tipped the florist's boy, the taxi chauffeur and the waiter. You are a dollar richer than you would have been if you were single—and, by the way, you'd better let me have the dollar.

Heavy Bridge Toll
"Your teeth are in bad shape," said the dentist. "You should have a bridge put in at once."
"How much will a bridge cost?"
"About $75."
"Say, doc, can't I get along with a small culvert?"

Considerate Clerk
Housewife—I ordered a dozen eggs, and all you sent me was 11. Do you call that proper service?
Grocer—Well, one of those eggs was bad and I knew you wouldn't want it.

MELTED HIM

"She gave him the icy stare."
"What did he do?"
"He slipped silently away."

Womanly Wisdom
Mrs. Bridemore—Clarice has a new riding horse 14 feet tall.
Mr. Bridemore—Hands, not feet.
Mrs. Bridemore—That's what she said; but, of course, it was a mistake because horses don't have hands—Montreal Star.

Can He Crochet?
"Jim's going to marry Miss Flighy. She can ride, swim, sing, dance, drive a racing car, and pilot an airplane. Good all-rounder."
"They ought to get on fine. Old Jim's quite a good hand at cooking."

It Might Work
"I've got a new idea. Fortune in it."
"What now?"
"It's an alarm clock that emits the delicious odors of frying bacon and eggs."

Her Lucky Day
"Did you find a suitable wife through your matrimonial advertisement?"
"Yes, I had so many replies that I had to employ a typist and I married the typist."

Big Deal Off
Mr. Putunge—Fellow offered me $50 for all my mining stock yesterday.
Mrs. Putunge—Did you sell?
Mr. Putunge—No; he wouldn't pay the freight!

St. Remy Flower Show Successful

The flower show held at the St. Remy Reformed Church on Wednesday afternoon and evening was largely attended by local as well as out of town admirers of flowers. The exhibit was well arranged with plenty of room for examination of the different specimens and owing to the fact the church proper was used in connection with the exhibit. This afforded the patrons an opportunity to have a resting place and have the privilege of again returning to the Sunday school room to admire the beauty of the flowers and potted plants gathered there.

The arrangements as made by the different committees in charge were carried out in a faultless manner and many flattering comments were heard as to the community spirit of cooperation that prevails in this and adjoining villages.

The Ladies Aid Society, serving the cafeteria supper, kept up its reputation for its abundance of appetizing things to eat and this part of the program as arranged was well patronized by the visitors.

The fancy article booth with Mrs. Samuel Barnett in charge attracted much attention, as the arrangement and articles for sale were of a different nature than usually found at a show of this kind.

The candy and cake booth with Mrs. Hertzell Murdock in charge and assisted by Mrs. Constance Blawis was a spot which attracted many and was well patronized.

The ice cream booth in charge of Mrs. Robert Hoffman, as usual had to close early, as her supply became exhausted.

The entertainment in charge of Miss Anna Divine and the pupils of the Rock School and 4-H Club was exceptionally good and judging from the applause given, was enjoyed by all.

The committee in charge of this show wish to take this opportunity to thank all who helped and it is hoped that arrangements can be made whereby this exhibit will become an annual event.

Among the most outstanding exhibits was a display of various species of native mushrooms exhibited by Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley of St. Remy. This exhibit proved very interesting and received much favorable comment in the arrangement of the various species of mushrooms and fungus as in nature. This exhibit was awarded a special first prize. Mrs. S. Barnett of St. Remy was awarded a special first prize for an arrangement of a rock garden with pool and various types of rock plants. Mrs. F. L. Tubby was awarded first prize for a miniature garden with pergola, pool, rustic walk and lawn. Harry Havlin of St. Remy was awarded second prize for a miniature garden with lawn, pool, pergola, etc. Leonard Flisinger of Port Ewen took a first prize on miniature woodland scene. Mrs. Hermon A. Kelley was awarded a special first prize on a thirteenth table arranged in a yellow color scheme with a centerpiece of French marigold. Mrs. S. Barnett of St. Remy received first prize on a thirteenth table arranged in shades of pink. Mrs. Rudolph Havlin was awarded second prize on a thirteenth table in a yellow color arrangement. Mrs. Harry Ellsworth of St. Remy was awarded third prize on a thirteenth table arranged in a peach color effect.

The committee wishes to thank the many exhibitors who were interested enough to exhibit their choice flowers. The committee also wishes to thank Mrs. Charles Tappen of Kingston, William Van Keuren of Kingston and Chester DuMond of Ulster Park for the efficient manner in which they decided all awards.

China Grows Much Rice; Does Not Supply Others

Exclusive of China, for which country no accurate statistics are available, more than 63,500,000 tons of cleaned rice are produced annually. Toward this mighty rice bowl India contributes more than 55 per cent of the total amount. Japan contributes 14 per cent; French Indo-China, Java and Madura, and Siam follow, each with somewhat less than half of that amount. Estimates indicate that China raises about 25,000,000 tons each year, but as rice has been a forbidden item of export from time immemorial, no one worries about statistics as long as his daily portion of rice is forthcoming.

Rice growing is not confined to continental Asia and its adjacent islands; in Africa, Europe and the United States rice fields also sprawl over many well-watered areas. With the exception of Italy, European countries find the demand greater than their production. But from the fertile fields, especially in the Po valley, comes sufficient rice to place Italy in the group of rice exporting countries.

In the United States, mainly in Louisiana, Georgia and the Carolinas, there is harvested annually nearly 575,000 tons of rice. About 14,000 tons of the cereal is imported, but fully nine times that amount is sent by the United States into the export market.

One Million Years Ago.
Fossilized remains of primitive men have been found in Europe and Asia in strata that geologists believe to be about 1,000,000 years old. More recently human bones have been found in strata of the same period in the Tanganyika territory, Africa. Although these bones were found in association with implements and fauna thought to be about one million years old, they do not belong to the primitive human types found in Europe and Asia dating from the same period. A human lower jaw, for example, found in strata of the upper Pliocene age along with teeth of the mastodon of that time, reveals a boner chin and crowded teeth closely resembling those of modern man.

LAKE KATRINE GRANGE.
PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

Lake Katrine, Sept. 22.—Lake Katrine Grange picnic was held at the home of Carl Wille of Mr. Marlon on Friday, September 17. There was a large number of patrons and friends present.

The picnic supper was enjoyed most heartily and after the supper Mr. Leigh gave a very interesting talk about South Africa. Mr. Leigh is a noted author and painter who has spent the summer at the Wille farm. After hearing his interesting and instructive talk there was another surprise feature in store for all. Mr. Avery and Mr. Nickerson, musicians for old-fashioned dances, played a number of square sets and modern music.

Everyone voted this an unusually successful picnic, having enjoyed themselves to the utmost. They voted Brother and Sister Wille an excellent host and hostess.

Luxurious But Dignified Is Rule In Evening Wear

LUXURIOSNESS marks the evening costumes designed for fall and winter. The Molyneux frock at left has a trailing skirt of skimming white, rayon panne velvet, and matching gloves. The cape is of white moire bordered in white uncarved ostrich. Red velvet makes the evening wrap at right designed by Chanel. The new hemline falls a few inches shorter than the frock which is of white moire. The collar and cuffs are of sable.

Boy Scouts To Collect Clothing Saturday

The Boy Scouts of the city will finish their canvass for clothing this afternoon and Saturday with the help of many trucks will make the collections.

The people throughout the city who are giving clothing are asked to have their bundles ready Saturday morning and if possible to place them on their front steps so as to assist in the speedy collection. Trucks will start out at 9 a. m. and will continue until all collections are made. During the past week the Scouts have made a canvass of most of the city and over 7,000 homes have offered clothing of some sort.

If there are any homes which have been missed and they wish to donate any clothing they are asked to call 3878 between 8:30 and 10 on Saturday morning and the trucks will call for the material.

Trucks will meet the Scouts of Troop No. 12 at the Bethany Chapel at 9 a. m. Scouts of Troop No. 6 at Albany Baptist Church at 9 and the Scouts of No. 5 and No. 9 at corner of Broadway and McEntee streets at 9.

Apes Pick Coconuts

Nature provided an excellent laborer in Sumatra in the climbing apes which are trained to pick coconuts, when directed by their owners who stand under the trees and guide their animals by jerks on the rope, and by calls.

A&P Buys Baby Beef Champ Awarding Girl, 11, $10,202

World records for beef on the hoof fell at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield when a price of $11.15 per pound was paid by The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company for the Grand Champion Baby Beef.

Theresa Grassi, eleven years old, Pine Plains, N. Y., 4-H Club member, carried away the Grand Championship honors with her Briard Laddie 58th. The low blooding Aberdeen Angus steer proved its class in competition with one hundred baby beefs exhibited by ninety-nine club members in the best show in the long history of the events at the Eastern States Exposition. This was Miss Grassi's first venture in the baby beef feeding and management contest.

The new Grand Champion Steer was bred by Myron Brown, a former

New York city boy, who exhibited steers in the Exposition Baby Beef Show four years ago, and now his own farm in Pine Plains, N. Y. The Grand Champion weighed 400 pounds when the present owner, Miss Grassi, bought him six months ago. He now weighs over 900 pounds, a gain of 2.5 pounds a day. Briard Laddie 58th was a reserve champion at Rhinebeck, N. Y., two months ago. He is sired by Prospective Briard 2nd, a bull which also sired ten of the entries in the show this year.

A. & P. executives in commenting on the purchase of the Grand Champion at this record-breaking price said that while A. & P. was glad to own beef of this grade for the stores, the most important feature of the purchase is the encouragement given the younger generation in the effort to breed and raise better stock.

Their Grandpa Was a Sailor, Too

MAC, Junnie and Bill Moore, grandchildren of the late Admiral William A. Moffett, U. S. N., photographed when they visited the U. S. S. Arkansas at anchor at Catalina Island. The Arkansas was first commanded by their distinguished grandfather, and later their father, Lieut. Com. E. McFarlane Moore, also served on the battleship until 1923. The children, dressed in uniform, were permitted to board the big battleship with their father for the purpose of inspecting the stateroom once occupied by both granddad and dad.

His Beard Is Unique in the Navy

K. W. STOVER of the U. S. S. New York is said to be the only enlisted man in the American navy who sports a beard. This distinction may account for his grin when the camera man caught him in San Francisco recently.

Where Honor Is Due
In the Stone are a hunter's dog was sometimes buried with him.

Kensington's Museum

To the visitor to London, Kensington means museums, with exhibits ranging from the original "Rocket" locomotive of Stephenson and the Wright brothers' airplane in the Science museum to the various types of furniture, textiles and metal work in the Victoria and Albert museum. In the Natural History museum the entire story of the earth and its inhabitants, from prehistoric times to the present, may be traced through a host of fascinating relics and models.

Swift-Sailing Canoe

The word "iron" is used to describe various kinds of vessels from the sampan or canoe to the square-rigged naval. In western usage, however, it is used chiefly of the swift-sailing craft, whose weather-side is rounded and lee-side flat, from stem to stern. Both stem and stern are exactly similar in shape and there is a small similarly shaped hull swung out from the side of the main hull on poles. This acts as an outrigger and prevents the vessel from heeling over. The main hull carries the mast rigging and an enormous triangular-shaped sail.

Groovy Ben Constrictor

Its own greed led to the death of a six-foot box constrictor at Balboa, C. Z., recently. The reptile entered a cage containing a collection of game birds kept at the Balboa Gun club and ate so many of the smaller birds that it was unable to get out of the same hole by which it had made its entry. It was still a prisoner in the cage when members of the club arrived on the scene and, finding the bird-stuffed reptile there, speedily put it to death.

The Termites

Termites are commonly called white ants. They have an abnormal appetite for wooden objects like houses, trees or fence posts and telephone poles. Their damage is unaccounted until the object attacked is ready or has collapsed, as they gnaw away from the inside. They were evidently brought here from Africa and islands of the tropics as they are found in those regions in great numbers.

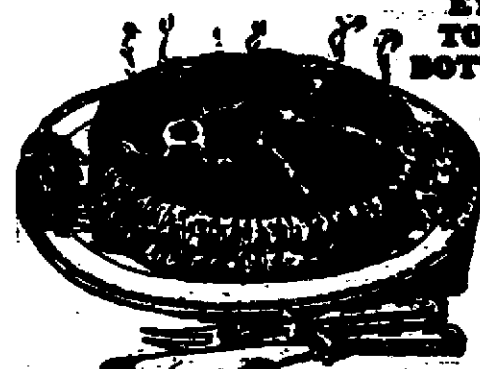

World's Platinum Supply

The Ural mountains are the source of nearly all of the world's platinum supply and recently one nugget was uncovered which weighed 25 pounds.

Fire Destroys House In Napanoch Tuesday

Fire which started on the ground floor of the 26 room boarding house of Harry Berns at Napanoch Corners destroyed the place Tuesday. The cause of the fire is unknown. The house was bought by Mr. Berns in 1932 and last spring he made many improvements on the premises and during the past season the house had many guests. At the time of the fire the house was unoccupied, all guests having departed on September 5. The Berns family resided in another house adjoining the boarding house.

On the evening prior to the fire Mr. Berns made his usual inspection of the premises before retiring and about 1:30 o'clock Tuesday morning was awakened by smoke. The fire was then on the ground floor at the rear. An attempt to extinguish the fire with pails of water failed and the Napanoch fire department was summoned. There was no insurance on the furnishings in the house and but a small amount of insurance on the building.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Chinese Motifs Are Charming

New York—"Just a little bit of spring—such a tiny little thing," as the old song went, and now see what it turns out to be. A smart separate jacket, a sweater, a dress even. Great things are being done with spring. It is smart for sports clothes, and does come in the very latest colors. A very smart double-breasted jacket of old ivory spring, in heavy rib stitch, had four large saucer shaped wooden buttons as a fastening. Wooden buttons are in brisk demand for all manner of day time clothes, being chic on wool and on the various knitted and crocheted things being worn.

It appears that the models embroidered with wool, or appliqued with broadcloth or what have you, that came over with the Paris collections, have been very successful and are widely copied. Some of these embroideries are of wool, and some of silver threads, depending very largely on the purpose of the frock on which they appear.

The sleeve seems to be regarded as the best place to introduce these decorative features. Sometimes they appear below and sometimes above the elbow, but it is developing that vertical arrangements are best liked. It takes a very slender person to carry the heavily padded shoulder effects, and appropriate though they are to the onrushing football season, most women find the elbow or below placement of trimming very much more flattering.

Martial et Armand stress the Oriental note in a frock which has appliques of Chinese characters done in broadcloth on silk, and Mirande gets a less pronounced Oriental note, but an equally charming one, by introducing silver lame and black appliques on the sleeves of a light weight black wool dress. The applique suggests a backgammon board by the way.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS.

A Pretty Frock for Slender Figures.
7664. Printed silk crepe was chosen for this model in a floral pattern of red on a white background. White crepe was used for trimming. The waist is cut to form a pointed bib over the front. Yoke sections in pointed outline are lengthened by paneled skirt sections, very slightly flared. The sleeve may be finished in short length, with a narrow flare cuff, or in wrist length in plain fitted style. A flare collar outlines a comfortable and pleasing neckline.

Designed in 5 sizes: 11, 13, 15, 17 and 19 with corresponding bust measure. 29, 31, 33, 35, 37. Size 15. If made as in the large view, will require 2 1/2 yards of printed or other material and 1/2 yard of contrasting material 35 inches wide. If made in monotone 3 1/2 yards will be required. With long sleeves, and in monotone, 4 yards will be required. Lotteries Banned
Lottery was such an easy plan of getting money in the early days of the state of Ohio that the General Assembly, jealous of so many profits in that way without permission, in 1807 passed a law forbidding all lotteries except those authorized by the legislature.

Tomato Recipes

Here is a delicious tomato juice cocktail:

TOMATO JUICE COCKTAIL.
Wash firm ripe tomatoes and cut into sections. To a quart of cut up tomatoes add one quart of water, 1 green pepper chopped, 1 1/2 teaspoons of salt, 2 tablespoons of sugar, 1 small sliced onion, 1 teaspoon horseradish, 1/2 cup chopped celery. Bring all to a boiling point, strain through a sieve and pour boiling hot into containers. Process jars for ten minutes in a hot-water bath. Serve cold.

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson, 1433 Forest Street, Denver, Colorado.

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

WISE AUNT MARY TELLS MABEL

WHY WOMEN ARE DISCARDING OLD TIME SOAPS FOR A

FAR QUICKER, EASIER WAY

1 WHY, MABEL, YOU LOOK SIMPLY TIRED TO DEATH! DON'T TELL ME YOU'VE JUST FINISHED YOUR WASH!

WASHDAY ALWAYS WEARS ME OUT COMPLETELY—AND THE WORST OF IT IS, JOE'S SURE TO WANT TO GO SOMEWHERE TONIGHT AND BE CROSS IF I OBJECT.

2 BUT I HAD MY WASH ON THE LINE LONG BEFORE LUNCH—WENT TO THE MOVIES ALL AFTERNOON. YOU MUST BE USING SOME OLD-FASHIONED KIND OF SOAP.

WHY, I USED MY REGULAR BRAND AUNT MARY—BUT I DON'T THINK IT MATTERS MUCH. ALL SOAPS ARE Alike.

3 THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE WRONG, MABEL. WAIT 'TIL YOU TRY THAT NEW OXYDOL. IT'S FASTER THAN ANY SOAP EVER KNOWN BEFORE—YOU JUST SOAK THE CLOTHES 15 MINUTES AND THEY COME OUT WHITE AS SNOW! NO NEED TO RUB OR BOIL.

JUST SOAK THEM 15 MINUTES? IT SOUNDS TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE—BUT I'LL CERTAINLY TRY IT NEXT WEEK.

NEXT WASHDAY

WELL, MABEL—YOU MUST HAVE TAKEN MY TIP ABOUT OXYDOL. I TOLD YOU YOU'D BE THROUGH BY 11 O'CLOCK.

AUNT MARY, IT'S WONDERFUL! I FINISHED IN HALF THE TIME AND NEVER HAD SUCH A LOVELY WASH. JUST SUCH HOW SWEET AND CLEAN IT IS—AND NOTHING FADED A BIT.

5 THAT EVENING
HOW COME ALL THIS PEP TONIGHT? THIS WAS WASHDAY, WASN'T IT?

YES, AND I'M NOT A BIT TIRED EITHER! AUNT MARY SHOWED ME A WONDERFUL NEW WAY TO WASH THAT GOT ME THROUGH IN HALF THE TIME.

6 AUNT MARY—GET YOUR HAT ON RIGHT AWAY! WE'RE GOING TO TAKE YOU OUT TO DINNER AND A SHOW—YOU DESERVE A MILLION DOLLARS FOR TELLING MABEL ABOUT OXYDOL.

YES, AND SHE'LL LIKE IT TWICE AS WELL WHEN SHE SEES HOW MUCH EASIER IT IS ON CLOTHES—HOW MUCH LONGER IT MAKES THEM LAST.

Women Gratefully Welcome This Amazing New Soap Discovery

Now! A Faster Wash... A Safer Wash Yet Whiter Clothes Than Ever Before Known

Accept 2 Easy Washings FREE... Use Coupon Below

HERE is a new scientific soap development that has already revolutionized washdays in more than a million homes. A creation so utterly amazing that women everywhere are asking and exclaiming—"Will the wonders of science never cease?"

For—up to now—women believed that everything science could possibly accomplish to make washdays easier and clothes whiter, had already been done. But today are finding that they were wrong.

They believed they had the fastest way already. And then found that even the fastest soap that science had hitherto devised was slow, compared to this new invention.

They believed that science had already shown them the way to the whitest washes they could possibly get. But are now amazed by still whiter washes than they've ever known before.

So, is it any wonder that millions are now quitting their former favorites—old-style "granulated soaps," bars and flakes—for this utterly new and different kind of soap?

A Remarkable NEW Invention

This new and improved soap invention is called OXYDOL. And it does these things. Things no other soap can do or has ever done before—

First: It cuts washing time 25% to 40%. And thus saves hours of labor.

Second: It works utterly without back-breaking rubbing, without scrubbing. For it works by dissolving dirt. You can throw your wash-board away.

Third: It makes clothes 4 to 5 shades whiter by scientific fastener tests than old ways. Whiteners then so boiling is unnecessary. Yet it cannot fade or injure fabric or color.

Fourth: It is as kind to the hands (and to clothes) as the finest toilet soap. For it is created by America's most famous soap makers—the makers of gentle "Ivory." Do you wonder then that women by the thousands are daily turning to it?

How It Works

This remarkable soap invention works an entirely different way. Due to a new and improved combination sought by science for years. One that makes soap twice as quick-acting, yet leaves the "harshness" out.

First there are special mild elements to soak out dirt—dissolve it—take it out like magic. These are blended with particular elements to protect colors against fade.

But that's not all. This combination is specifically fitted to water conditions of the districts where it is sold. Old time soaps are not. The water in this district, for instance, has been tested by famous chemists. And the new, improved OXYDOL you get here is specially fitted to it!

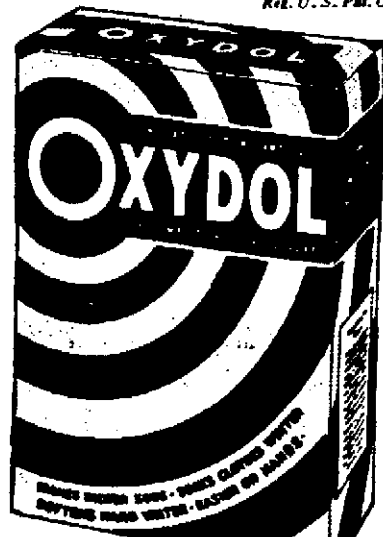

That is why OXYDOL gives abundant suds almost instantly. Suds like rich dairy cream that's been whipped. Suds that "stand up" in any kind of water. Suds that stay in action until their work is done!

No wonder women are flocking to OXYDOL—telling one another about it—using it every washday.

Once you try it—and see how unbelievably clean and sweet it gets your clothes after only 15 minutes' soaking—you'll never go back to rubbing and scrubbing with wasteful, old-style soaps again.

See for yourself what OXYDOL is and does. It will change all ideas you ever had about washing. About whiter washes. About easier washdays.

These things we promise you. For your own sake, try it. Don't believe your present favorite is still the finest. Whatever its name, you'll find it completely outmoded and outshined by new, improved OXYDOL. Accept a package free for coupon. Or obtain at any store.

No Food

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
The shed behaved very well, and while the animals rocked around inside because of the wind blowing over the water, they were safe.

All of the things that Top Notch had had in his shed for sale such as string and other odds and ends which he had found were scattered everywhere, but Top Notch did not mind. His General Store had not had much attention of late and it needed to be completely made over anyway.

"All that matters now," said Top Notch, "is that we are safe. How long do you suppose it's going to continue raining?"

"I've no idea," said Willy Nilly. "I've never known anything like this in all my life."

They looked out of the little window of the shed, but all they could see was the heavy, heavy rain.

"Boy-wow," said Rip the Dog. "I haven't had anything to eat in ever so long. I was so frightened before that I did not think about food. But now that we seem to be getting along all right with this shed for our protection, we should have something to eat."

"That's so, we should," agreed Willy Nilly. "I'm starved."

"I could eat and eat and eat," sighed Top Notch, the Rooster.

"Quack, quack, but I'm hungry," said Mrs. Quacko Duck.

"Quack, quack, I'm with you there," quacked Mr. Quacko Duck.

"What have you got in this shed to eat?" asked Christopher Columbus Crow.

"Nothing," said Top Notch solemnly.

Suddenly the truth dawned upon them. They were without food, and water was everywhere around.

Emigrant's Gift To Turkish Village Promises Health In Backward District

Manissa, Turkey (AP)—Because a Jewish native of Manissa made a fortune in America but never forgot his distant Turkish home town, a model hospital has been built in this quiet corner of Anatolia.

Medical experts call it one of the best equipped and best planned small units in the world.

Prasanta Reap Benefit

On October 1, the Morris Schinas International Hospital of 40 beds, the million-dollar gift of the late Manissa-born Morris Schinas, New York tobacco merchant, will be opened to patients.

In the sick peasantry of Anatolia, whom the sultans abandoned to witch-doctors and blue heads and whom the new republic is trying with limited means to aid, will lie on model American operating tables and in model American beds in model wards, all equipped and planned according to the latest word of medical science.

All the building materials, with the sole exception of foundation stones, and all the equipment were imported, practically everything except cement coming from the United States.

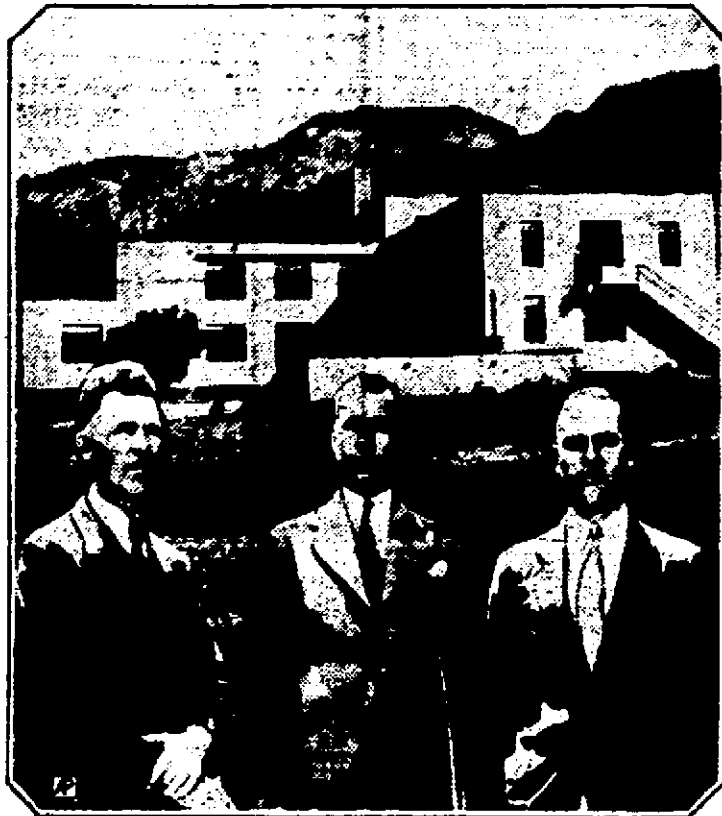

Government Lends Aid

Despite its quota system strictly limiting imports, the Turkish government allowed all imports for the hospital to enter duty free.

Charged with carrying out Mr. Schinas's bequest, Huntington Turner, assistant trust officer of the Chemical Bank and Trust Co. of New York, made four trips between New York and Manissa, traveling more than 40,000 miles in all.

It is a trip which Morris Schinas himself took only once in his life. He never returned to Manissa after as a boy, and poor, he left it to become an American millionaire.

The hospital was built and equipped at a cost of $200,000. The remaining trust fund of $800,000 gives the hospital $24,000 annually for expenses.

The million-dollar hospital shown above has been built in the obscure country town of Manissa, Turkey, under the will of the late Morris Schinas of New York, a native of the village. Below, left to right, are Allen Harrison, in charge of construction; Dr. Memduh Nedjet Bey, director of the hospital, and Huntington Turner, New York trustee.

Thompson and Churchill of New York were the architects and Allen Harrison the engineer. He was assisted by Galip Rifat Bey, young Turkish graduate of Robert College, who studied for two years at the University of Illinois.

Miss Cora Gould of the Orange, N. J., Memorial Hospital, chose the equipment. Stanley Howe of the Orange Memorial Hospital and Dr. Lorin Shepard, director of the American Hospital of Istanbul, were consultants.

Dr. Shepard says that of all hospitals he has seen, the Manissa hospital, as a small unit, is the best planned and best equipped.

More than 1,000 townspeople, peasants and visitors from near-by Smyrna attended the inaugural ceremonies when Morris Schinas's ashes, brought from America by Mr. Turner, were placed in the hospital's cornerstone.

A feast followed the raising of the Turkish flag, and a Turkish military band played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The hospital will be staffed entirely by Turkish doctors and nurses. Dr. Memduh Nedjet Bey, a well-known surgeon, has been appointed director by the ministry of hygiene at Ankara, with the approval of the American trustees.

The home of former Secretary of the Treasury Hugh McCulloch, who served under Lincoln, still stands in Port Wayne, Ind.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—When the grueling 100 or so days of the special session of the first "Roosevelt" congress were finally brought to a close, manifestations of joy were in evidence everywhere.

They'll go back home now, it was agreed. The political community on Capitol Hill would break up as it always had at the close of a session. The HERBERT PLUMMER strain under which senators and representatives had worked and which was beginning to create some unpleasantness near the end of the special session would disappear.

Different This Time

IT HASN'T turned out exactly that way. A surprisingly large number of the members of congress elected to remain in Washington through the summer. They are still here. Some who went back home soon found that Washington, after all, in times like these is not such a bad place to be.

Here, at least, they were spared the personal demands they encountered back home. It is easier to placate a constituent by a well-phrased letter than by a face-to-face encounter.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Sept. 22—Wednesday evening, September 20, Walter Smith, Webb Kniffen, Joseph Hornbeck, George Carroll and Dick Shaffer attended the dinner of the National Lead Company held in the Washington Hotel, Newburgh. Dinner was served at 6:30, after which the following program was carried out: Illustrated talk, "A Painter and His Profits"; new motion picture, "What Price Painter"; painting demonstrations; questions and answers. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Kniffen accompanied their husbands to Newburgh and spent the evening with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hasbrouck entertained a guest Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Clearwater of High Falls called on relatives in town this week.

Ralph Johnston, district superintendent of schools, was a speaker at the Lions Club in Marlborough Tuesday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston of Plattkill called on relatives in town during the week.

Morgan Constant left on Wednesday to attend the World's Fair. He will be gone for ten days. He will be gone for ten days.

Reason Enough

A FEW weeks ago the writer had an opportunity to observe at first hand, in a city far removed from Washington, just what one member of congress who returned home after the session had to put up with.

It was on Sunday at his home. Even there he couldn't escape. Automobiles were parked in line outside his home. Job-hunters and those seeking favors had motored in from miles around, bringing with them their families.

In one room he received the men. In another, his wife and daughter acted as hostesses to the womenfolk and children. This continued from early morning until late afternoon.

It is surprising that those so harassed are anxious to escape, and do return to Washington?

What Will Be Effect?

ALL of which may have a very direct and telling influence on events of the next congress which convenes in January.

Hitherto it has been possible for members of congress annually to make the discovery that there are other activities than politics in the United States. The respite afforded them during recess has had a tendency to improve both their viewpoint and their temper.

They have returned to Washington for a new session usually spiritually as well as physically refreshed. Frayed nerves and ragged tempers have been reknit. Irritations they had when they left have been largely forgotten.

It may be different when they return for the coming winter session. Don't be surprised if there's a display of temper at the very start.

Dance at Cottekill

Tuesday evening, September 26, the Cottekill Volunteer Fire Company will hold another of its popular old fashioned and modern dances in the fire house. Dancing will be held from 9 to 1, to music furnished by "Flord and Mike." Proceeds will apply on purchase price of the motorized chemical outfit recently purchased by the company. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Free Spaghetti Supper

There will be a free spaghetti supper at the Subway Grill, 235 Hasbrouck avenue, Saturday night. It will be featured with mountain music by Tom Manning and Al Neri.

General John H. Morgan, of Morgan raider fame in the civil war, was once a manufacturer of bagging at Lexington, Ky.

BISURATED MAGNESIA

Not a laxative but the best friend any upset stomach can have.

An enemy to stomach gas—to fermentation—to acidity and sourness—to bloating—that's just what Bisurated Magnesia is. It's as supremely good and soothing as it is effective. It drives out gas and mingles in 5 minutes—if it doesn't put your poor, crumpled stomach in the working condition in one week, any druggist will return the purchase price—and it's almost as cheap as a bar of soap. Irritating, habit-forming cathartics are much more efficient.

puts more heat into old furnaces; burns longer.

Just because you have an old furnace is no reason why you shouldn't get plenty of heat. If you aren't, perhaps it is not entirely the fault of the furnace. It may be the coal you use.

Some coal contains slate. Slate won't burn. Thus you get robbed of heat; have clinkers that reduce the heat, too. But you don't have to put up with it. Not today. There is a new, improved coal—BLACK STORK, Hi-Test Anthracite. It burns perfectly—gives you all the heat you pay for. There's a reason.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
Seattle, Sept. 22—Lieut. Gov. Victor A. Moberg thinks one of Seattle's greatest needs is a committee to coordinate about things.
"The committee should do the entire worrying for the city," he said yesterday.
"Tappers should be able to devote themselves solely to drinking beer and raising mustaches."

Chorus Is Fido

New York—There's a certain bulldog on the sidewalks of New York which had better go into hiding for a day or so.
An upright piano dangled yesterday outside a third floor window of a Bronx house. The dog sneaked up behind the moving men and bit through the hoisting rope. The piano hit the sidewalk with a crash.
Haled into court, the moving men asked a day's adjournment to "find that dog."

Rules All Wet

Pittsburgh—New hazing rules for co-eds at Duquesne University are not an unmitigated blessing. Spanking is sternly prohibited, but ducking of freshmen under the campus pump is given an official o.k.

No Women Wanted

Gettysburg, Pa.—Men students get all the attention now at Gettysburg College—because there are no co-eds. For the first time in 45 years the institution started its terms without a woman enrolled. They aren't allowed any more.

Two Mistakes

Conneaut, O.—The hunting was good, and Howard Olds, having shot all the squirrels he wanted, leaned against a tree to rest.
He felt a scratching at his shoulder and turned to see a big fox squirrel, amiable and unafraid. He petted it and scratched its ears. It was a nice squirrel.
But not for long. Suddenly it sank its teeth in the hunter's fingers and Olds had to break its neck to get it loose.

Well, Well, Hotcha!

Perry, Mich.—The longer L. C. Gulick pumps his well the hotter the water gets and he has asked a Michigan State College geologist to find out why.

Gulick heard an explosion a few nights ago and the change in the temperature of the water was noticed about the same time.

She's A Good Egg

Xenia, O.—An egg a day, for all of her 16 years, is the production record claimed for a hen owned by B. F. Green, of Goes, near here. Green says he purchased the chicken when it was a day old. Since she began to lay, she's done it daily, Green says.

Expensive Appetites

Whitewood, S. D.—Henry Berber found the five dollar bill he lost five days ago—half devoured by grasshoppers.

A bank put the greenback on display.

Boys Up Again

Chicago—The National Hairdressers Association wound up its convention by selecting the new coquette bob as the smartest and newest thing of all the 1933 hair dresses.

Talks to parents

Grandparents
By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH
Mothers often are tempted with some reason to say that grandparents are unprincipled and irresponsible. They generally spoil the children, see none of their faults, and, if possible, take the edge off every reproach and punishment administered.

No doubt most of this is true, but were it even more true, it would still be as it should be, and the grandparents would still be performing the natural and desirable function which has been handed down from the past.

The father and mother, feeling responsible for the child, are very apt to try to make him perfect. The mother especially, being with the child more than anyone else, is very apt to nag, for having once started to train him, she cannot consistently one minute overlook faults which she has corrected another.

Could she look the other way now and then, and not see the occasional disobedience, it would be well, but most mothers are unable to do this, and must be forever correcting or disciplining the children who are about them, until the nerves of both parent and child are rasped and taut.

But with a grandmother there is peace and sympathy. Grandparents have no annoying sense of responsibility. Someone else is to blame if the child is badly brought up; and, generally, instead of reproving the child for its naughtiness, they are inclined to reprove the parents.

From their vantage point outside the hurlyburly of the world, they offer a retreat and haven of refuge to the children not yet accustomed to the problems of life. They do not mention faults if they see them, they receive confidences and confessions and have no desire to scold or correct. They are the antidote for the over-increasing pressure of life.

The Word "Slogan"

The word "slogan" is derived from the Celtic "slugh-shairm," which is what the Scots called their clan rallying cries for summoning men to battle. Literally translated it means "cry of the host." In modern business any pithy sales message or statement of policy is termed a slogan.

THE pungent, sweet odor of frying crullers tantalized Phyllis' nostrils through the half-open door.

"See," she said to the pleasant, efficient looking woman standing there, "if you will just let me have this sample with you, and promise me to try it, I'll be so glad." She smiled, a sunny, radiant smile as she handed the older woman a little package of cereal.

"The children will love it for breakfast and supper—just the thing to give them before those delicious crullers I smelt." And she nodded gayly and turned away. But, "Oh!" she exclaimed, and winced with pain as she started down the porch steps.

"Are you hurt?" said Celia Burke.

"No—not much," Phyllis sat down on the top step. "Only my instep—it's swollen—see? And every now and then it gives such a sharp twinge, I can't help."

"You poor thing," said Celia sympathetically. "You come right back in the house and rest."

"I'll call a taxi," said Phyllis, "to take me to the hotel—we're staying there—if I may use the telephone."

"You'll do nothing of the kind. You can call your friends at the hotel—the town boasted only one—if you want, but you must rest here. It's half past four now. John will be home in an hour, and we'll have supper at six, and he can drive you over afterwards."

Phyllis' half-hearted protests were of no avail.

"You're awfully good to me, Mrs. John," she said.

"Oh—Celia Burke."

"I'm Phyllis Parker. You see, we're doing this part of the state and Hartsville is a good center and not expensive. There are ten of us who go around for this company distributing samples—six girls and three men and our manager, Mr. Sanford Trask. We have a couple of cars and we go off for the day to nearby towns, and then when we've finished this section we move on. I think there's something the matter with my instep, maybe—I dropped a heavy case of samples on it the other day, and it's hurt ever since. But, of course, I can't stop working unless I'm laid up."

Celia sensed fatigue in the younger woman's words.

"Now that's all right. You just rest, and have supper—you wouldn't be doing much more tonight. And you'll feel better tomorrow."

At five-thirty John came home, hesitated when he saw the girl asleep on the couch in the lamplight, and tipped to the kitchen. There Celia explained to him. She found Phyllis awake when she went to the living room five minutes later, with real tears brimming over. "I can't tell why I'm such a goose," said the girl. "It's so nice being cared for." And by the time Phyllis had dried her eyes and John had been introduced to her, and she learned that he was Celia's brother, not her husband, the knocker sounded. It was Mr. Trask, a pleasant, middle-aged man, all concern at the message that Celia had telephoned the hotel. Far too pleasant, thought Celia, to drive a pretty girl like Phyllis.

"But Miss Burke," he said contritely to Celia, as he shook her hand, "I didn't know Phyllis had hurt her foot. Why didn't you tell me and see a doctor—do something to get it fixed up?"

"Oh, Mr. Trask," protested Phyllis, "it wasn't really anything, only it did hurt a good deal. But this afternoon it seemed to get worse, and then—"

"Never mind," he said. "We'll see a doctor tonight, and then when we go on tomorrow maybe we can leave you here for a rest and pick you up next week when we come through again. Got a hospital here, Miss Burke? Poor Phyllis is having all the bad luck this trip."

Celia quickly reconstructed her opinion of Mr. Trask. "Yes, we have a hospital. Not very big, but it's all right. But Phyllis is staying here, if you'll let her. I want her here for my guest for a week. We'll get the doctor to strap the foot or whatever it needs, and she can have a few days of rest and get it all straightened out again."

Phyllis, in a week's visit, had quite recovered. But during the following month she and Sanford Trask had been at the Burkes' for supper many times. Sanford had found Hartsville a good center for much of their work. And, at the end of the month, anybody with half an eye could have seen which way the wind was blowing. Sanford Trask and the older sister, Phyllis Parker and the younger brother.

Phyllis and John were on the porch, where the first spring warmth made the evening mild and gentle. "Of course, I'll marry you, John," Phyllis was saying. "And," answered John, "if you'd get bored in this small town, I'll do something else—we'll go to a city and live at a hotel." "But, John, I love it here—if Celia won't mind. I want to learn to bake beans and make crullers."

In the living room where wood cracked on the hearth—for in spite of the spring mildness there was a chill in the air—Celia said, "But of course I'll marry you, Sanford, if you want me." And Sanford answered, "If you'd hate traveling with me, Celia, I'll give up that work and settle down here."

"Oh, Sanford, I'll love to go about from place to place," answered Celia. "To like never to cook another cruller or make another pot of beans—if only John can get along without me."

Phyllis' half-hearted protests were of no avail.

"You're awfully good to me, Mrs. John," she said.

"Oh—Celia Burke."

ARMY HERO HOME FINDS WIFE WED

Shell Shocked War Veteran
Regains Memory.

Vienna.—It took Joseph Meier, sergeant in the Austrian High-Fourth Infantry, fifteen years to get home after the war.

He walked into the Vienna police headquarters, snatched to salute and reported his return, the last Viennese prisoner of war.

A week before the armistice was signed, Sergeant Meier, while on outpost duty, was buried by a sudden explosion. He was dug out senseless by French sappers and carried to one of their dressing stations, where it was found that he had lost power of speech and memory.

After eighteen months in French hospitals he finally found himself in a Moroccan military cantonment. There he began slowly to recover the power of speech. He was dismissed half cured after seven months.

He worked for a time as a helper in a French munitions plant. Later, he says, he was back in Tunis working as a master mechanic. In the meantime he had learned French perfectly and was quite satisfied with his job.

In Meier's twisted account there appears to have been an interim when he was a fireman in the crematory at Sidi Bel Abes. Then he got a job as fireman on a freighter bound for Singapore.

It was there in February, 1932, that his memory came back to him naturally and without the usual attendant strain.

Stranded and without a cent, he finally reached Constantinople. From there he walked to Vienna.

Meier's wife is now married to another man. His children refused to recognize him—shabby, stuttering, old—their war-hero father. His friends have moved away. His job is gone.

He is no longer a man without a country, but he finds little happiness in it.

Expert Says Rattles

Strike Without Warning

Post, Texas.—Rattlesnakes don't always rattle a warning before they strike, says J. E. Adams, who has hunted them for ten years.

A rattler will run a few yards from trouble then turn and fight until he is dead, Adams has observed. Young snakes will run into the mouths of their mother when frightened, he said.

During his ten years at the dangerous sport Adams has had many of the poisonous snakes strike at him, but none ever has bitten him. Many have brushed his head or his hand as they have struck and missed.

His only weapon is a 7-foot pole with a hook on one end and two prongs on the other. He catches the snakes for museums, circuses or laboratories. It is no trouble for him to get a dozen or so of them.

He carries no serum for emergency in case he is bitten. His pocket knife would be his only medicine—to "slash the affected part and let the poison out."

Discover Thigh Bone of Huge Elephant in U. S.

Los Angeles.—Forty thousand years ago giant imperial elephants, 14 feet in height, with hair covering their bodies, and with tusks 12 feet in length roamed the forests of southern California.

Today workmen unearthed the huge thighbone of an imperial elephant, 4 feet in length, nearly a foot in diameter and weighing nearly 100 pounds.

The discovery was made in a drain excavation in Signal Hill, 20 feet underground.

Officials of Los Angeles museum supervised the removal of the bone and voiced elation at the discovery.

Also found in the same excavation were small bones of prehistoric camels, horses and bison.

All shipments are sent in refrigerator space and reach China crisp and fresh.

Husband's Pockets Sacred, Court Rules

Montreal.—Even though wives may not think so, the Canadian law considers a man's pockets inviolate, according to a decision rendered by the Superior court here.

The court made the ruling when the lawyer for a wife demanding an income in alimony, contended that the husband was able to pay and asked that he turn out his pockets to show how much money he had.

The husband refused and was upheld by the court.

8 Hour Day for Nurses At The Benedictine

The Nurses' Alumni Association of the Benedictine Hospital at their monthly meeting Thursday evening, voted for an eight hour day for private duty nursing, to go in effect October 1.

The alumni, the doctors and the management have been considering this plan for some months and after careful investigation it was found that many hospitals in the country as well as in New York state have given this plan a fair trial and find it most successful.

Rates are to be so adjusted that three nurses will cost the patient no more than two have in the past. They are to receive four dollars for an eight hour day. Although this means that the nurses are working for $14 less a week, they hope that this method will lessen their unemployment periods to a very large degree. Since the eight hour day was instituted at the Fifth Avenue Hospital, St. Vincent's Hospital, French Hospital and many others, they have had very few nurses waiting for calls.

It has been found that the doctors appreciate the increased efficiency of the nurse. The nurse who is fatigued cannot give the efficient service that a rested nurse can. The patients like to make new contacts, they prefer a fresh nurse every eight hours to tired nurses. This increased efficiency helps them to recovery and they will probably need the services of the nurses for shorter periods.

Some patients may want or need special nursing service for only eight hours or sixteen hours per day instead of for twenty-four. This will be a way of lowering to some extent the expense of sickness in these days of depression and at the same time, give the nurses increased employment.

The doctors of the staff have pledged their wholehearted support for the success of the eight hour plan.

Giants and Senators Are Both Good Under Pressure

By ALAN GOULD.

Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—Chief among the reasons why it should be a hammer-and-tongs battle between the Giants and the Senators in the world series is that each pennant-winning club has shown the ability to win under pressure. Each has looked good "in the latches."

Washington has an older, more experienced and better balanced club, outside the battery department, but it has shown no more coolness nor steadiness under fire than the spirited group of young men directed by Bill Terry. If you have ever noticed the look in Bill Terry's black eyes or the jutting angle of his jaw, when he is talking or planning serious baseball strategy, you will realize the influence he has upon his players.

Fortune Favored Both Clubs.
To a certain extent, the fortunes of this year's baseball war favored both championship teams. The Senators took advantage of the sharp decline of the world champion Yankees in mid-season, yet it must be conceded the capital crew helped start Babe Ruth & Company downhill.

When the Yankees, in their last pennant game, took a double-header from Washington early in August, the two clubs were only a game apart. There was a flare-up of the old Yankee enthusiasm again but the Senators promptly rallied, took two games in a row and left the big town with one and all convinced they were the coming champions.

Washington captured the season's series from every American League rival by so decisive a margin that no room has been left for argument.

Giants' Turning Point

Although the Giants were first to clinch the pennant, the feeling that the club really was "in" did not become firmly established until they knocked off the Boston Braves the first week in September. The Braves had been especially troublesome all year for the New Yorkers, winning the majority of games, and were on the crest of a wave. When they took the first game of the crucial series at Boston, the Braves aroused tremendous enthusiasm. It seemed almost likely the next day when Hubbell and Fitzsimmons pitched and batted the Giants to a double victory before 50,000 fans. It vanished when New York made it four straight and left Boston with an eight-game lead.

"That was the real turning point of our season," said Terry after leading his merry men through the West for the last time. "Nothing could stop us after the battle of Boston. We just went out and took all the tough ones on the enemy's grounds. And that's another reason why the Senators can't scare us."

A Gingers Battle In '24

The Giants and Senators waged a sensational battle the last time they met in the big series, in 1924. It wasn't decided in favor of the Nats until the twelfth inning of the seventh and final game and the Capital City of the United States thereupon proceeded to go mad with celebration. There are not many active survivors of that struggle in this year's opposing forces, but Manager Terry is one of them. He hit .429 in five games of that 1924 series.

Advantage for Giants

This year the Giants have the advantage of starting and possibly finishing the world series at the Polo Grounds. The first two and last two games are scheduled in New York. At home, the use of the National League ball, which undoubtedly is less lively than the American League ball, will be a distinct asset to the Giant pitchers, Hubbell, Schumacher and Fitzsimmons, who are slated to work in that order.

Playing away from home probably will be not so advantageous for the Klasmens, but as the test is the first for the Monticello team, the same as for Kingston, the odds should not prove so heavy for the K. H. S. gridmen, among whom are a goodly number of veterans from last year.

Kingston is in good shape physically and from the standpoint of football strategy has gone through enough drills since early in the training season to make it ready for whatever sort of attack the "Mounties" choose to use. Coach Kias and his assistants have covered in detail all of the points they believe necessary for the Maroon squad to know in its opener and seem satisfied with the way their gridders absorbed the instructions.

Adhering to his policy of refraining from announcing the starting lineup, Coach Kias said he was not ready to say what players would begin the battle for Kingston, but indications are that he will have along on the trip enough men to keep fresh material in the fray all through it and bolster the Maroon's chances for the football pennant this year by setting off to a winning start.

Tagging Major League Bases

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The last lingering doubt has been removed and it's Jose Cronin and his mighty men of Washington against Bill Terry and his hustling New York Giants in the 1933 world series.

The Senators, long regarded as a "sure thing" to capture the American League flag, reached the point where they can't be beaten by defeating the last-place St. Louis Browns 2 to 1 yesterday in a close game, fought out before stands that already were being prepared to receive the series crowds.

Washington has six more games to play and the second place New York Yankees eight, but even if the Senators lost them all and the Yankees chalk up an unbroken string of victories the final standing will show Washington with 97 victories and 55 defeats, the Yanks with 95 won and 55 lost.

The game which finally settled the pennant chase yesterday brought little excitement to Washington fans, perhaps less than there was in New York where a crowd of 5,000 stood in a drizzle of rain to pay tribute to the Giants as they received a civic welcome the day after their return from the West where they clinched the flag Tuesday.

The followers of the Senators knew all along they had a team of champions after they had fought off the challenge of last year's series winners, the Yankees, in a decisive series in August and had piled up an ever increasing lead through the "dog days" when playing baseball is hard work. After the last out was made a part of the ladies' day crowd of 10,000 rushed out on the field to cheer and congratulate the players as they hurried to the clubhouse but the demonstration only lasted a minute or two.

Walter Stewart, the southpaw ace who used to pitch for the Browns, held his former team's contest in a duel with Irving (Bump) Haddy, one-time Washington flinger. The deciding run came in the seventh inning, just after St. Louis had tied the score, when Joe Kuhel singled, Bob Boken walked, and Luke Sewell brought Kuhel home with a double that looked for a while as if it would be caught and cost the Senators a chance to score more runs as Kuhel hesitated along the base paths.

Joe Cronin, the 26-year-old leader who brought Washington its first pennant since the Senators triumphed under another "boy" manager, Bucky Harris, in 1925, was given a large share of the credit for the triumph. But the fans, while paying tribute to his personal leadership and the spirit he imparted in his first year in the managerial role, had to admit there were other players who made it possible for the Senators to win the season's series against every rival club and hold first place almost without interruption since the end of June. There was a great pitching staff, led by the durable Alvin Crowder and Earl Whitehill, a whole flock of .200 hitters, among them Cronin himself, and a fine defense.

The Giants, after their damp parade, enjoyed another day of much needed rest in preparation for the world series duel as their game with the Brooklyn Dodgers, the only one on the National League schedule, was postponed.

The one remaining game saw the sudden and complete downfall of Johnny Marcum, the rookie pitcher of the Philadelphia Athletics who started the American League by starting out with two straight shutouts, and a 10-3 triumph for the Detroit Tigers over the A's in their final clash.

Given a two-run lead in the first inning by Jimmie Foxx's 47th home run of the year, Marcum "blew" in the third and seven hits and a Philadelphia error gave the Tigers 6 runs. Johnny Stone of Detroit and Bob Johnson of the A's also contributed circuit blows to the festivities.

The other four American League clubs were not scheduled.

Scherer, McKenzie Pitching Duel

Because one of its pitchers, Harold McKenzie, would like to meet Eddie Scherer, ace of the Connely A. C. hurling staff, in a mound duel, the Port Ewen Firemen have decided to mix it once more this season with the Connely club which it defeated three games to one in a recent series.

McKenzie, who has not been as active on the diamond this year as in past seasons, hopes to show Scherer that he can take him over. He has been toting 'em over to All Short, his battery mate, every evening for five or six days and says he is in "the pink of condition."

Scherer, who has been doing some good mound work for Connely, is of the opinion that he can drive "Mac" from the hill and plans on doing it early in the Sunday extravaganza. Johnny Koslowski will be his backstop.

The rivalry between the pitchers is expected to draw a record crowd to Hercules Field, Port Ewen. Starting time of the contest is 3:15 o'clock.

Creighton's Choice

—By Pap

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Three of the main reasons why the Giants have so successfully fought off repeated challenges to their National League leadership are Hubbell, Haddy and Haddy.

The other three pitching factors, of course, are not to be overlooked. Hal Schumacher, Bud Parmelee and Freddy Fitzsimmons, especially since the rotund Fitz has returned to form, round out the most effective curving corps in either major league; perhaps the most effective pitching quartet any club has had since Walsh, White, Pfeister and Altrock were doing their stuff for the old "hitless wonders" of Chicago.

But pin the biggest rose of all on Hubbell, the lean, taciturn Missourian who has handcuffed, hog-tied and tow-roped the opposition when it meant the most and done it the oftentimes of any pitcher in baseball this year.

Three times within one week, when it looked as though the Giants were showing signs of the strain and when cracking a bit here and there, Hubbell sauntered out and left-handed the Pirates, the Cardinals and the Braves into complete submission at a time when these three clubs were the most menacing of all the Giants' pursuers. He did it each time with a nonchalance and confidence that left no room for doubt about his ability to rise to the occasion.

Best in 17 Years.
Ten of Hubbell's first 20 victories were shutouts, more than any pitcher in either league has compiled since Grover Cleveland Alexander set the record of 16 with the Phillies in 1916. He has pitched nearly 200 scoreless innings.

At one stretch of 46 innings Hubbell appeared in seven games without being scored on. Three of them were complete games and shutouts. Alexander had four shutouts in a row in 1911. "Doc" White of that famous White Sox staff had five successive shutouts in 1904. Walter Johnson blanked the Yankees three times in a row in one series in 1913. Otherwise there is no comparison with Hubbell's feats this season.

The lean left-hander is the big reason why the Giants not only have stayed on top, but will give Washington plenty of trouble in the world series. Neither Whitehill nor Stewart, the ace southpaws of the Senators, compare with Hubbell in all-around effectiveness. They are good, but Carl is great. Unquestionably this season he has succeeded Lefty Grove as the king of left-handers.

The Big Crack-Up

The developments in Boston clearly indicated that destiny has put its finger this year on the Giants, not the Braves.

When Johnny Vergez went to the hospital after the Giants lost the first game to Ben Cantwell, the skids were supposed to have been greased for Bill Terry's men. Things finally had turned, said the experts, bracing themselves for a quick collapse.

They turned all right, and how! The Giants won four in a row and tied the last game of the year's most critical series. They left the Braves staggering in the rear. They got a welcome rest on Labor Day, due to

Two Games Scheduled For Hasbrouck Stadium

Manager Jimmy Jaffer has two games down for his Hasbrouck Stars after the week-end. Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock they will play the last meeting North End at A. C. and Sunday at 3 p. m. Poughkeepsie P. N. A., one of the strongest visiting clubs to appear at Hasbrouck Park this summer.

Concerning the contests, both which will take place at Hasbrouck Park, Manager Jaffer feels that they will be victories for his Hasbrouck Stars. "We'll take 'em over without a trouble," says he of the North End donners. "The Poughkeepsie P. N. A. is a good club, but I think we'll beat it," he opines concerning Sunday tilt.

Jaffer gave his lineup as follows: L. Fitzgerald, 1b; S. Ditzik, 2b; Leski or D. Williams, 3b; Joe T. Asaki, 3b; R. Williams, lf; K. L. or Raskowski, cf; T. Lewis, r; Tomasek, c; E. Murphy or Huber, p.

Morgans Will Try For A Victory Saturday

Manager Jimmy Morgan hopes a real baseball weather Saturday afternoon so that his Repeaters, champions of the City League, can make a strong bid for another victory when they meet the Highland Falls independents at 3:30 o'clock on the athletic field.

It is expected that a crowd will on hand to see the local club fight it out with the Independents who copped the pennant in the Newburgh City League this summer. Morgan will use his regular lineup, probably starting Ted Fraleigh on the pitching mound.

The Morgans are anxious for a win to fortify them for their clash with the Saugerties Fireman League champions a week from Saturday. This battle will also take place at the Athletic Field.

Yesterday's STARS

ROUTE 9-W—Near Sengstack.Cells of Disposition Of Urschel Ransom

Oklahoma City, Sept. 22 (AP).—A preliminary report to the disposition of the $200,000 with which Charles F. Urschel was ransomed, admitted over strenuous objections of counsel for seven Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants in the sniping conspiracy trial in Federal court here today.

A. M. Carey of Minneapolis, attorney for the seven, sought to rule out testimony as to the disposition of the ransom money, claiming that the money had been closed by return of Urschel. "Your point has effect only as to actual abductors," said District Judge Edgar S. Vaughn.

Ralph Hagen, manager of a bank at Minneapolis, told of receiving part of the ransom at bank. His testimony brought Minneapolis and St. Paul defendants—Isadore Blumenfeld, Samberg, Sam Kronick, Pete Valder, as Hackett and Nelson, Edward (Arney) Bergman, Charles Wolk and Ford Skelly—into the trial by one for the first time.

The prosecution has $1,500 obtained in the twin cities which it offered as part of the ransom for Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire kidnapped July 22.

Baker Divorce Decree Granted

An interlocutory decree of divorce has been granted by Judge J. T. McHugh in the action of Kenneth Baker of Accord against Vera Baker. The parties were married at Kerhonkson on November 16, 1932, and have lived apart since that time. Arthur B. Ewig appeared for plaintiff and F. T. Murray, guardian ad litem, for defendant. The acts upon which the divorce was sought are alleged to have been committed in July 1933 at a place designated as "lover's lane" at Accord. Testimony as to the alleged acts was given by William Egan and Walter Van Steenburgh who accompanied the plaintiff on July 25 of this year from Accord to point some distance from the village.

Westinghouse Employees Strike.

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 22 (AP).—Employees of the East Springfield plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company struck 10 o'clock this morning. The company failed to meet several demands, including one for higher wages. Labor leaders said between 90 and 95 per cent of the 3,000 employed there joined the walkout.

WHYCompanies Change Stock Value From Par to No-Par

The term "no par value stock" is applied to the certificates of shares of stock of any corporation which is authorized to divide its capital stock into equal shares of no stated denominational value. These certificates contain no reference to the normal, face or par value of the shares. The actual value of each share can be estimated approximately by an outsider at any time by dividing total net assets by amount of stock issued. The market price also approximately indicates the value. Whenever necessary in the course of business, the value of these shares may be fixed in amount by the directors. The shares are merely equal shares in property and profits, or in effect, participation certificates. About a third of industrial stocks are of this kind.

No-par shares do away with the meaninglessness of "par value," avoiding any supposition that there is an equivalence between actual values and par value of stock. In most states, a corporation must obtain permission from a state board to sell stock certificates, either directly or through brokers. Authority is usually required to change par value or issue new stock certificates.

Why Terms "Racket" and "Racketeering" Are Used

The terms "racket" and "racketeering" have been applied in recent years to various kinds of wrongdoing, some of which may be actually within the law. Colonel Randolph of Chicago limited it to "a conspiracy to commit extortion by intimidation, force, violence, blackmail, arson, murder, kidnapping, bombing or undue influence." The word originally had to do only with violent noise-making, but in "The Slang Dictionary," published in England in 1873, we find also the meanings, "a dodge, maneuver or exhibition." The Oxford Dictionary gives it as a slang term for a dodge game or line of business. Vitzelly's Deskbook of Idioms gives the phrase "Tumble to the racket" as meaning "to understand the plan or scheme."

Why Submarine Has Two Hulls

A submarine is composed of practically two hulls. The inner one is a cigar-shaped affair, called the "pressure hull," which is so constructed as to withstand an external pressure of 85 pounds per square inch, which is the outside water pressure on the hull at 200 feet depth. Surrounding this hull is another hull of a nonstrength type, which will withstand, when empty, an outside pressure of but 14 to 18 pounds per square inch. When diving, this hull is filled with and open to the outside water; consequently, no outside pressure upon it. Its vents and kingston valves are left open during submergence. The water entering this tank destroys the buoyancy and the vessel is able to be taken down underneath the surface. When it is desired to come to the surface the water is blown out of this tank by compressed air.

Why Term "Limited" Is Used

The word "limited" in such a name as "John Smith, Ltd." signifies that the firm is a limited liability company, i. e., that the financial responsibilities of the members of the company or the shareholders are limited either to the face value of the shares they hold in the company, or by any financial guarantee they may have given. Without this safeguard, the partners in a business are liable to the last penny for the debts of the partnership, even their private property being impounded, if necessary.

Why Peanut Shells Are Useful

Did you know that the lowly peanut shell can be reduced chemically to a liquid that kills flies? Just think of all the peanut shells people throw away at the circus, baseball game, movies, etc. But the peanut eaters who attended the football games in the Iowa State college stadium last fall didn't cause any hard feelings among the clean-up crew. The more peanuts eaten at the games the better they liked it. They swept up the shells and carried them to the college laboratory where a chemist reduced them to fly spray.

Why a Barn Is Red

Custom has a lot to do with it, but the primary reason is that red paint, such as is used on farm buildings, is the cheapest and most serviceable paint there is. It would be just as serviceable on a house. The red paint customarily seen on barns is composed of Venetian red, a cheap coloring matter, mixed with a liquid which has lissed oil for its base. So long has that combination been used on barns, corncribs, hog houses and other farm buildings, that any other color causes comment.

Why We See One Side of Moon

The period of the moon's rotation on its axis coincides with its period of revolution around the earth. Due to the moon's libration in latitude and longitude, at various times small portions beyond the poles and at the east and west rim are visible from the earth.

Why Croaking Frogs Presage Rain

This superstition is common in the dry country of southwestern United States and is traced back to the Arawak Indians, who were its early inhabitants. A "frog cult" existed among the primitive peoples of the West Indies at about the time of Columbus.

Scapa Flow

Scapa Flow is a small body of water, an arm of the ocean which lies between the Orkney Islands of Pomona and Hoy, north of Scotland. It is about 14 miles long and nearly inclosed. Scapa Flow offers a deep, safe harbor and was the operating base of the British grand fleet during the war.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—Financial markets, while still moving fitfully in the face of choppy inflationary breezes, apparently felt better today and security prices recovered some of their recent surrenders.

Stocks rushed about nervously in the first hour, rallying and declining in sudden spurts. Trading activity expanded sharply as buyers and sellers switched positions frequently. After the first hour the list steadied, however, and by noon the trend seemed upward. Later most categories moved forward, although there was no unusual buoyancy in the recovery. Grains, heavy at one time, also came back while cotton was in demand at higher levels. Other commodities were fairly firm. The dollar looked much higher most of the morning, but eventually turned back to around its previous position. There was a mild run on Seaboard oil stock, which got up about 4 points. Houston Oil advanced 1 point. Standard of New Jersey was off a point. Recoveries of 1 to 2 or more were recorded by U. S. Steel, Case, American Telephone, Chrysler, Allied Chemical, National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Can, Western Union, Deere, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, North American, New York Central, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific. Homestake Mining was up 15 points at one time at 370, another new high, but later relinquished all but 7. U. S. Smelting gained some 4 points and American Smelting, Dome Mines, and McIntyre Porcupine rallied 1 to 2 or more.

With the recent switch in inflationary sentiment, financial quarters were discussing the possibility of a stabilized dollar, in one way or another, and there even were guesses being made on the return to the gold standard. Some bankers were of the opinion that if and when the country gets back on the gold base, the standard will be one of bar metal instead of the previous monetary one. In other words, paper dollars will not be redeemable in gold dollars but in gold bars. This is the standard on which France operates.

Reported efforts of the railway administration to have the carriers place orders for some 1,000,000 tons of rails were cheering to the steel industry which recently has been suffering from sagging production.

Seeking To Lay 12 Murders To Scarnici

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—On the bunched shoulders of Leonard Scarnici, young bad man who alternately leers and babbles, police sought today to place the guilt of 12 murders.

The indications were that Scarnici would go first to Troy to face trial for the murder of a detective in a robbery of the Bank of Rensselaer last May.

He was seized Wednesday with four other men and two women in connection with the kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., of Albany, whose politically powerful family bought him back for $40,000 ransom.

Called a killer-for-hire and described by a police inspector as "perhaps the toughest man in my experience," Scarnici is also wanted in Woodbridge, Conn., for a killing station robbery in which two men were murdered.

Other slayings the police sought to connect him with were:

The machine-gunning of Vincent Coli, Bronx desperado.

The ride killings of Marcel Poffo, Max Parker, Anthony Russo, and Joseph Calligro, whose bodies were found near Harrison, N. Y.

The killing of Joe Ruggiero, believed to have followed a quarrel over the loot from a New York bank robbery.

The "sack murders" of William Price and Edward Flanagan in Brooklyn.

The "sack murder" of Davis Reinert, who had been arrested with Scarnici for a robbery of the post office at Salisbury, Conn.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Supplies of fruits and vegetables on the New York city wholesale market continued light and trading was generally quiet because of the Jewish New Year holiday.

Limited arrivals of apples and pears continued without price change.

Concord grapes from the Hudson Valley brought $1.50-$1.75 per 12 basket carton and Niagaras sold at $1.75-$2.00.

Light receipts of cauliflower from the Catskill mountain area grading No. 1, brought $1.50-$2.25, a few $2.50, and No. 2 realized 75c-$1.25.

Handle baskets of tomatoes from the Hudson Valley brought 35c-65c and crates 50c-$2.00, according to quality.

Onions continued without price change.

Apples: Prices unchanged. Hudson Valley District: Bushel basket or tub, also open crates, Northwestern Greening, N. Y. U. Paymaster Robbed

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 22 (AP).—The paymaster for the Dunlap Silk Mill at Olyphant, near here, was held up near the mill today by four men and robbed of nearly $10,000.

Air Mail Pilot Died

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 22 (AP).—Harold L. Neff, Cleveland air mail pilot whose plane crashed in a swamp near here early Saturday, died today.

Lindbergh in Leningrad

Leningrad, U. S. S. R., Sept. 22 (AP).—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here at 1:30 p. m. today after a flight from Helsinki, Finland.

The heater now in the building will continue to be used during the winter.

The annual supper and fair of the First Congregational Church of this village will be held October 4. In the ladies' booth will be found on sale fancy and useful articles. Ice cream and homemade candy will also be on sale.

The Freshman Class of the Saugerties High School enjoyed a picnic at the athletic field on Washington avenue Wednesday afternoon. Merritt Bidwell was assisted by John McNaughton, Charles Wilde, Miss Katherine Findeison, Mrs. Wrence Robert, Percy, Miss Adelaide Hollister, Miss Virginia Masters and L. M. Cahill. This picnic is held each year as early as possible so that the freshmen who come from the many schools outside this village may become acquainted with each other. The cooperation of the bus companies made it possible for the non-resident pupils to remain and attend the affair.

Roosevelt Out Of State Politics

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP).—Reports that the national administration might take a hand in the New York city mayoralty situation were countered at the White House today by word that President Roosevelt was staying out of participation in any local politics.

It was said for the President that he was "giving no approval to any local candidate in any state."

The apparent intent was to discount both the report that he might throw support to the former aldermanic president and one time acting mayor, Joseph V. McKee, or that the administration might eventually say a word in behalf of the Tammany city ticket, headed by Mayor O'Brien.

"Y" Gym Classes

Begin Next Week
The regular fall schedule of gym and swim classes at the Y. C. A. will be put into effect next week. The first classes beginning on Monday,
September 25:

In the boys' division, the gym schedule has been somewhat modified in order to meet the demands of various boys' clubs that they be allowed to go on the gym floor as a group. This arrangement has now been made without at the same time doing away with the regular gym classes for the various divisions in the boys' department. Under the new arrangements, every boy will go on the gym floor once a week with the division to which he belongs for a class period. In addition he has an opportunity for a gym and swim party with one of the organized clubs in the boys' department. For those boys who do not care to affiliate with any particular club but who desire the gym and swim privileges, a period on Saturday forenoon has been scheduled.

Following is the schedule to go into effect Monday, with possibly minor changes to be made later in the season:

Monday.
3:30—Student "A" Class.
5—Student "C" Swim.
1—Employed Boys' Class.
3—Senior Gym Class.

Tuesday.
4—Student "B" Class.
5:30—Business Men's Class.
7:30-9—Y. W. C. A. Swim.

Wednesday.
7:30—Leaders' Training Group.
4—H-Y Gym Period.

Thursday.
4—Y. W. C. A. Swim.
6—Junior Rotary Gym Period.
7—Employed Boys' Club Period.
8:15—Volleyball Period.

Friday.
4:45—Student "B" Club Period.
5:30—Business Men's Class.
8—Senior Gym Class.

Saturday.
9—Friendly Indian Class.
10:30—Non-Club Members' Class.
P. M.—Free Period and League.

Tomato Subs for Citrus Fruits

Tomatoes are a substitute for citrus fruits in supplying vitamin C, which helps to protect gums and teeth. The acid of tomatoes protects this vitamin in cooking, so canned tomatoes are as valuable as the fresh fruit.

Clinton Avenue Men's Club Opens Fall Season

Clinton Avenue Men's Club opened its fall season with a turnout Wednesday evening at Epworth Hall. There were 35 men present to show their interest in the activities of the club and to join in the good fellowship and sociability always manifest at these gatherings.

President Frank S. Hyatt greeted those present, outlining the fall's program which will be complete and of great importance to the club and to the church. The first real activity of the season will be the annual chicken pie supper which he said was scheduled for the 11th of October in the large commodious Epworth Hall. All men were urged to dispose of as many tickets as possible to insure success.

Reports were given of the summer's activities, by the secretary and proposals were made for an active program in the fall for this winter. The use of the hall for a large recreational program was enthusiastically recommended and Walt Hyatt was put in charge of such arrangements with the able assistance of Albert "Doc" Shultz. Valley Ball, indoor baseball, basketball and other forms of indoor activities will be fostered. Dart baseball was also a subject of enthusiasm and it was heartily agreed that the Clinton Avenue men would certainly wish to be among those playing the game in the league that is in the process of formation here in the city. W. F. Smith was appointed to carry on this part of the program.

After extending an invitation to all men of the community whether affiliated with the church or not to join the club in its activities for the coming year, the Entertainment Committee was called upon to round out the evening with its presentation. The secretary acting as promoter introduced Frank T. Oulton, well known comedian, and his son, Buddy, a chip of the old block, who gave a decidedly humorous and clever skit that kept the men adequately entertained for several minutes. The next feature was the very popular group known as the "Blue Ridge Rangers," who have been heard with great enjoyment throughout the county this past season. These young men with their banjos, guitars, mandolins and most decidedly its fiddle present a snappy and wholly agreeable program that brings out spontaneous applause wherever they go and their program to the Men's Club was no exception.

Refreshments were served by Irving Wells, Walt Hyatt and their committee, thus bringing to a close a very enjoyable evening. During Rally Week at Clinton Avenue, Monday evening, October 2, will be Men's Night and all men of the club and church are urged to be present to make the program a success.
